Hixon is retiring

By Lisa A. Boudreau

When incoming Superintendent of Schools Mark McQuillan steps into his new position in January, he will face some crucial appointments that will shape the future of the Andover school system. Andover High Principal Wilbur Hixon and possibly two other Girls band is 50 years old!

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Fifty years ago, the first all-girls marching band took to the playing field at Punchard High to cheer on and inspire the boys on the football field. At that time and for many years after, they were the only all-girls high school marching band in New England. Some former members believe they were the first in the country.

One November afternoon in 1939, Miriam (Sweeney) McArdle, music director in the public schools at the time, called an assembly of all the girls at Punchard High School and suggested the idea of the

Harris comments on possible judge appointments

By Don Staruk

Governor's Councilor-elect John Harris, of 31 Lincoln Circle, said this week that it is unlikely Sen.

Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) will be nominated for a judgeship by Governor-elect William Weld. He also called Gov. Michael Dukakis' judgeship nomination of Paul Mahoney "cronyism."

"Not very likely," Mr. Harris said of the speculation that Mr. Weld would appoint Sen. McGovern to a judgeship in order to vacate her Senate seat. "I don't believe Bill Weld's prepared to be handing out judgeships for political purposes."

Harris says Pat McGovern isn't qualified to be a judge.

He also said Sen. McGovern does not have the legal experience to be considered for a judgeship.

Mr. Harris was critical of Gov. Dukakis' nomination last week of Paul Mahoney, top aide to Senate President William Bulger, to a judgeship.

"It's strictly a political appointment, part of the cronyism and political payoffs that we've seen demonstrated over the last 20 years," Mr. Harris

Margaret Pustell made recycling happen in Andover

By Virginia Cole

As we move into recycling with bins at every driveway and no more leaves going to the incinerator, we have arrived at two goals Margaret Pustell had when she first became involved in recycling in Andover almost 20 years ago.

Margaret Pustell

Margaret moved to Andover already interested in the environment and worried about the throw-away society. I don't know whether Andover Recycling found Margaret or Margaret found Andover Recycling.

They were the days when the dump was being closed and curbside pick-up of recycled goods was just beginning. Margaret made one of her first great contributions to the cause with silkscreened posters, which she designed, made and helped deliver to the places in town that would accept them. They were beautiful and got the recycling message across in bright colors.

When Town Manager Maynard Austin was negotiating with the builders of the North Andover incinerator, Margaret was one of the strongest in convincing him and subsequently the incinerator people that Andover need not be required to commit all its paper products to the blaze, as they requested.

Margaret became president of Andover Recycling and I think was president when the town gave up searching for a contractor to do the pick-up work. Margaret suggested to Town Manager Jared Clark and Board of Public Works Director Bob McQuade that perhaps this group of women could find a contractor and oversee the job. After a brief consultation that gave the women present in the Old Town Hall meeting room hardly time to get our breath and say, "Margaret, what have you done?", Mr. Clark and Mr. McQuade returned and said, "Fine, the job is yours. We will give you the money in the town budget to run the program and you do it."

Margaret found a contractor before the day was out. A public meeting was held, corporation papers drawn up, officers elected, a board of directors appointed and the program went on.

Margaret, along with some other Andover Recycling members, rode the truck the first week. We really wanted to see how it worked.

Another of the great contributions Margaret has given to recycling in Andover was her involvement with the recycling auction. In the first years after the dump was closed, no one knew what to do with their castoffs.

So, once a year in the spring, Andover Recycling ran an auction. It was quite a festive affair held at the old building at Recreation Park.

The first year two famous Andover auctioneers presided, Phil Allen and Ralph Sharpe. The goods came from all over town, the customers even from out of town and money was earned to contribute to the cost of curbside pickup.

We must give credit here to Bob Pustell, Margaret's husband (and chairman of the Conservation Committee) for a lot of heavy lifting and directing of volunteers.

Margaret Pustell has continued on the board of directors of Andover Recycling all these years; she has attended and re-

NEWS IN BRIEF

How much of Andover recycles?

1990 Recycling figures to date (in tons)
Month	Glass	Paper	Total	Percent Participation
				*Week 1	Week 2	Total
August	36	172.86	208.86	63.00	68.00	65.5
September	36	188.05	224.05	70.00	73.00	71.5
October	36	207.44	243.44	61.50	72.50	67.0
Total	108	568.35	676.35	64.83	71.16	68.0

* Half the town recycles in Week 1 and the other half in Week 2.

Andover has been recycling paper and glass at curbside since Aug. 6. During week 2, the schools are slowly being brought into the program. In Andover, 12,068 recycling pick-ups were made in October, out of a possible 17,230 stops.

It's the deadline

Deadline for news releases is Monday at 5 p.m. at the Townsman. Please include a name and phone number, in case there are questions.

Corrections

There were three errors in the 1990 Town Directory included in last week's Townsman.

Due to a reporter's error, Pam Mitchell was left off the list of Zoning Board of Appeals members.

Also due to a reporter's error, the Finance Committee appointment process was wrong. It is the town moderator who appoints FinCom members.

Also, the terms of two members of the Board of Selectmen were wrong. Chairman James M. Barenboim's term expires in 1991; Vice Chairman William T. Downs' term expires in 1993.

In her column last week, Perry Catlin made a mistake in writing about the girls who played Kate and DupliKate in "No, No, A Million Times No!" the Merrimack Junior Theatre's musical melodrama.

The twins were played by two unrelated (and talented) girls, Amanda Beale, daughter of Jeff and Cheri Beale, and Abby Goldstein, daughter of Jan and Gary Goldstein.

Cottage Windows to close Nov. 30

Cottage Windows, a drapery and furniture accessories store at 63 Park St., is closing Friday, Nov. 30, after five years in business.

Geri West, co-owner of the store, said the closing is due to her own health problems. The store sells curtains, curtain rods, furniture, lamps, accessories and crafts. All items in stock will be on sale at the store from now until it closes at 5 p.m. next Friday.

Ms. West, of Wakefield, and Joan Nikonchuk, of Billerica, started the business five years ago and ran the business together for three years.

When Ms. Nikonchuk left the business two years ago her landlord at Park Street Village, Robert Finlayson, of Abbot Street, became a partner in the business, Ms. West said.

No other business is scheduled to move into the Cottage Windows space at this time, Mr. Finlayson said this week.

Ms. West said she will probably go back to working on crafts.

"I always did crafts before I went into the curtain business and I may revert to that," she said.

Winter parking ban to begin soon

The police department would like to warn residents that the all-night winter parking ban goes into effect Saturday, Dec. 1.

Vehicles are not allowed to be parked on the streets or in town or school lots between 1 and 6 a.m. The purpose of the ban is to facilitate snow clearing in the case of a storm.

Violators will be fined and/or towed, according to Lt. Phillip Froburg.

The ban will remain in effect until April 1.

Hewett is named employee of the month at cop shop

Lesley Hewett, office computer specialist for the police department, has been chosen by her fellow workers as the department's employee of the month for November.

Ms. Hewett, 32, started with the department 10 1/2 years ago, in 1980, as a records clerk. She does not have a college degree but has taken courses that have helped her progress to her current position.

"I maintain the computers and am in charge of records systems," she said.

Ms. Hewett also does some programming and runs report summaries for crime or traffic studies.

She and her husband, Mark, live in Plaistow, N.H., with their three children.

Part of the award for being chosen employee of the month is a day off.

Library talk is on meditation

William D. Morgan of the Cambridge Center for Meditation will speak on "Insight Meditation: Applying It To Everyday Life," Wednesday, Nov. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library.

The evening is sponsored by Interfaith Counseling Service in Andover and the Ione Y. Gunnarson Memorial Fund.

The public is invited.

DCS seeks several teachers

The Department of Community Services is in the process of setting up the winter/spring program for January through May. The program is in need of individuals who have expertise in keyboarding, English as a second language, mother/tot programs, gourmet cooking, knitting, children/teen-age art lessons and after-school programs for elementary students.

If you can teach in any of these subjects or have a skill you would like to share, contact Mary Donohue or Peg Campbell.

COOKING

A Thanksgiving that celebrates many cultures

By Maria Moskos

Thanksgiving is a unique holiday because it is symbolic of change and new opportunities amidst well-established traditions.

I plan my Thanksgiving menu by retaining the core of early American cooking and incorporating ethnic foods representing our own Italian and Greek origins and a few contemporary versions of early American fare.

For a table arrangement I place a fresh pineapple on a pedestal dish and arrange dried and fresh fruit and nuts in their shells (which have had a small hole drilled into one end) in a line design starting at the top and curving around to end at the foliage-lined base of the pineapple until it is entirely covered. For a large banquet-size table, I make a 24-inch wide centerpiece consisting of an arrangement of a variety of seasonal fruit and nuts. I arrange clusters of nuts in their shells and evergreen sprigs and small autumn-colored leaves between the fruit. I usually incorporate candles into my design to provide a colonial atmosphere. Earth-tone bird feathers can be tucked into napkin rings, sprigs of wheat arranged in bread baskets and clusters of kumquats decoratively placed on serving platters.

No burning ban is in effect

There is no burning of leaves in Andover, according to Deputy Fire Chief Harold Wright.

That's not a town ordinance but a state law, Dep. Wright said.

Open burning is allowed by permit, normally from Jan. 15 to

May 1, the deputy said, but is not supposed to be for leaves.

Leaves shouldn't be thrown in with the trash because the town, and every taxpayer, will then have to pay to have them burned at the incinerator in North Andover.

yolks. Add cream cheese, farina and spices and mix well.

In a large bowl beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Gently fold egg whites into squash filling.

Arrange eight layers of phyllo in a pan, brushing each layer with unsalted melted clarified butter, overhanging the first two phyllo sheets (on each long side of pan). Spread squash mixture over the eighth layer of phyllo. Spread 1/2 cup chopped walnuts over the ninth buttered layer and remaining nuts over the 10th layer. Butter two more layers of phyllo to total 12. Score top of "pita" into squares by cutting down through phyllo layers about 1/2-inch deep. Sprinkle the top layer of phyllo very lightly with water to prevent it from curling up.

Bake at 350 degrees on middle shelf

Doherty leases Elm St. garage site

By Don Staruk

Doherty Insurance has signed a 10-year lease on the old Elm Street Garage building and property next to the Andover Spa, effectively removing that space as a possible answer to parking congestion in the downtown.

The company plans to use the rear of the leased property as an employee parking lot so it can expand its own building at 21 Elm St., according to Mary Doherty, vice president of the insurance company.

Ms. Doherty said her company plans to sublet the old garage building, but does not know what type of business will go in there.

"At this point we're really not sure, to be honest with you," Ms. Doherty said.

The old Elm Street Garage site was recently identified by the Central Business District subcommittee as a prime parking location for downtown and the group had recommended the town consider leasing it for a municipal lot.

The site is owned by Bursaw Oil of Danvers. The building has been vacant since Elm Street Auto moved to Lupine Road in 1986.

The Department of Environmental Protection has declared the property a hazardous waste site and placed restrictions on its development because the soil was contaminated by oil leaked from underground storage tanks. The restrictions apply to digging up the ground but not to the building or above-ground use.

Plans by Doherty Insurance to expand its own building are contingent on the Planning Board allowing the leased parking to fulfill zoning obligations, according to Ms. Doherty.

Doherty officials want to expand in order to create more space for the insurance company offices.

"We have a lot more people than we did a few years ago," Ms. Doherty said. "We've needed to expand for some time."

Here's help in planning for taxes in this economy

"Planning for Wealth Accumulation and Taxes in a Recessionary Economy" will be the topic of a forum at Merrimack College.

The college's second annual Enterprise Forum will be held Thursday, Nov. 29, from 6 to 9 p.m. in the school's library.

Speakers will be Merrimack graduates Arthur V. Ford, M.S.T., C.P.A., and Joseph V. Jarosz, M.S.T., C.P.A., both of Sullivan, Bille and Company; and Michael M. Kaleel of Kaleel and Company.

The evening will include Federal and Massachusetts taxation updates and a discussion of employee benefits, deferred compensation and wealth accumulation.

Registration fee for the forum is $40, with a $5 discount for more than three registrants from one firm. Proceeds will go toward scholarships at Merrimack.

The three-hour forum, which carries continuing education credits, is being sponsored by the college, its alumni association, Merrimack's Business Professional Group, the Men of Merrimack, the college's business administration and continuing education divisions and Entrepreneurial Network, and the National Association of Accountants.

For more information, call Professor John Slipkowsky of Merrimack's accounting and finance department.

Belben gets real estate graduate designation

Jeannette Belben of the Victor Company Inc., Andover, was recently designated a Graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) by Massachusetts Association of Realtors President J. Thomas Marquis.

The GRI designation signifies 90 hours of advanced in-class real estate education. Realtors who have passed the GRI examination are recognized as having attained one of the highest professional levels in residential real estate.

League to sell UNICEF cards

UNICEF cards and gift items will be sold by the Andover League of Women Voters Saturday, Nov. 24, in the lobby of Andover Bank on Main Street, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Also on sale will be the League's Andover Town Handbook, a guide to recreation, town government, education and more. The sale will continue Saturday, Dec. 1, same place.

Dotti Rossetti earns GRI designation

Dotti Rossetti of J.B. Doherty Associates had the designation graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) conferred upon her by Massachusetts Association of Realtors President J. Thomas Marquis.

J.B. Doherty Associates is located in Andover, at 12 Bartlet St.

The GRI designation signifies 90 hours of advanced in-class real estate education.

Realtors who have passed the GRI examinations are recognized as having attained one of the highest professional levels in residential real estate.

Two women receive GRI status

Amy Sebell and Arlene Santangelo, both of Andover, have successfully completed Course II of the 1990 Realtors Institute of Massachusetts held recently at the Sheraton in Andover, according to Massachusetts Association of Realtors President J. Thomas Marquis.

The association sponsors institutes throughout the year for realtors and realtor-associates as part of its continuing education program. Upon completion of three 30-hour courses, institute participants receive the nationally recognized designation "GRI" (Graduate Realtors Institute).

Of more than 82,000 GRIs nationwide, there are more than 2,500 in Massachusetts. The institute includes such subjects as residential construction and design, listings, pricing property, marketing, law, finance, ethics, management, advertising, real estate calculator and taxation. About 300 people attended the institute.

Ms. Sebell and Ms. Santangelo are associated with the Victor Company Inc., 168 North Main St.

Two to help hospital fund

Two area businessmen have stepped forward to serve as honorary chairmen of The Centennial Fund, a special gifts program to provide funding for The Regional Cardiac Center and Catheterization Lab at Lowell General Hospital.

The chairmen are Telemachus A. Demoulas, chief executive of Demoulas and Market Basket stores and a philanthropist through the Demoulas Foundation, and Arthur C. Anton, owner and president of Anton Cleaners.

The Centennial Fund, named to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the hospital's founding in 1891, will support the Regional Cardiac Center and Catheterization Lab at Lowell General Hospital.

Lowell General Hospital Trustee Clementine F. Alexis, active in Lowell community service organizations in addition to LGH, and LGH Trustee Emeritus David H. Mason, retired vice president of Central Savings Bank, will co-chair the Centennial Fund.

THE SPINE

From front to back the spine should be straight up and down.

A side view of the normal spine should show four curves—two curves to the front and two to the back.

An auto accident, a severe fall or injury can cause these vertebrae to become subluxated causing pressure on the spinal nerves. Every organ in the body has a nerve supply and any time these nerves are pinched by misaligned vertebrae they can cause various discomforts—headaches, back or neck tension, shoulder pain, etc. That leads us to ask:

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC AND HOW CAN IT HELP?

Chiropractic Care is a Drugless Natural Way to Good Health!

Discovered by D.D. Palmer in 1895, chiropractic today is widely recognized as a primary health care system and is included within the Medicare and Medicaid programs along with 640 insurance companies.

Many people think that chiropractic deals only with back problems—this is a misconception which we would like to explain. CHIROPRACTIC deals with the spinal column and the spinal cord which carries all the vital nerves of the entire body. The science of Chiropractic is founded on the premises that adequate nerve supply is of prime importance in regulating body function.

Chiropractors use this scientific principle to maintain health and to correct the cause of disease. The soundness of its basic principle is documented by countless sufferers restored to good health by Chiropractic care.

There is no way that we can tell you all about Chiropractic care in a few short paragraphs—but a short visit to our office and we can answer any questions that you may have.

Seniors to participate in local Christmas parade

By Mary A. Byrne

The Senior Center will participate in the Andover Firefighters Christmas Parade. I'm counting on having as many as possible join the staff and me on Sunday, Nov. 25, at 12:30 p.m. at the Senior Center. What a great way to get into the Holiday spirit. If you would like to walk with us, call the center so I'll have an idea of the numbers.

If you are a senior citizen or care about a special senior, "Get Into Circulation." You can play a role in preventing stroke and other circulation problems. Learn how on Thursday, Dec. 13, at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center. Patricia L. Baum, program director of the Leonard Morse Hospital, will conduct what promises to be an important and informative program.

The Christmas Party at the center will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 11:30 a.m. Chet will be here. The ticket cost is $4 and are on sale now.

Remember, when the weather is stormy and unsafe and the children do not attend school, the Senior Center will be closed. Listen to WCCM on questionable days.

There will be no lunches at the center on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday this week due to the holiday schedule. However, Bingo will be played as usual on Friday.

As Thanksgiving approaches I can't help but think how thankful I am for our wonderful Senior Center and all our friends here. I've enjoyed my first year as director more than I ever imagined. On behalf of the Council on Aging and the staff I want to wish each of you a very Happy Thanksgiving.

Day Care clients help Lazarus House

Participants of the Andover Adult Day Care Program have begun the holiday season by putting together a box of food to be given to Lazarus House in Lawrence.

This day program provides a supportive environment for frail elders, enabling them to continue living independently.

Participants also feel that as a group they have a lot to offer to others. It is a very positive experience for those who are often on the receiving end, to be able to reach out and help others, according to those who manage the program.

Some who are crafty, and even some who are not, have been decorating spoons to be given to Santa's Kitchen in Boston, which will receive a $10 donation for each decorated spoon for Project Bread. Members of the Adult Care Program would like to thank many of the "regulars" at the Senior Center for bringing in spoons.

Walkers raise $15K-plus for fund

More than 250 people of all ages from the Merrimack Valley recently joined in the Walk for Elders to raise more than $15,000 for nutrition programs and the Elder Care Fund.

"It was a great success," said Rosanne J. DiStefano, executive director of Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley Inc. "Everyone felt so good about giving of their time to raise these funds. The recent fiscal crisis in Massachusetts has resulted in reduction of funds for services which meet the basic needs of older adults in our area.

"We are grateful for the support of the citizens of all ages and local merchants who generously made cash contributions and/or donated prizes for the walkers. The planning committee, staff of Elder Services, Merrimack Valley Nutrition Project and Tri-Town did a spectacular job."

The $15,000 will be divided between nutrition services and the Elder Care Fund, recently initiated by Elder Services.

Nevins plans Christmas craft fair

Nevins Home and Adult Day Health Center, 10-12 Ingalls Court, Methuen, will hold its annual Christmas craft fairs and raffle Saturday, Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fair will feature crafts made by the residents of the Nevins Home and the Adult Day Health Center and baked goods.

Proceeds will benefit the residents of Nevins and clients at the health center.

Home Care Week begins Nov. 25

National Home Care Week is Nov. 25-Dec. 1.

HomeCare Inc., a non-profit provider of home care services, offers help in maintaining individuals safe and healthy at home through a variety of programs and services.

HomeCare Inc. works with families to develop a home care plan that allows maximum independence for individuals.

Patients can receive nursing or physical or occupational therapy at home, 24-hour companions, housekeepers or homemakers who help with meal preparation.

The Voice of Help can be used by anyone as a complete home emergency system, and can be easily installed into an existing phone line. Seniors, the chronically ill and the disabled find support with The Voice of Help, which allows individuals to live independent lives.

According to Karen S. Harvey, director of HomeCare Inc., "Community residents are more aware of the wide range of home care choices for their health care needs. National Home Care Week gives us a good opportunity to increase awareness of our services. We want everyone to know that we are bringing health care back home with the most basic and the most sophisticated services."

HomeCare Inc. is a subsidiary of the Home Health Foundation, 1 Union St.

For information on home care services, contact HomeCare Inc. at 1-800-696-6776.

Principal tells war stories of student contraband

By Lisa A. Boudreau

About a dozen Andover High School students in Patricia Barrett's sixth-period health class were held captivated last Friday as knife-wielding Principal Wilbur Hixon recounted "war stories" of confiscating contraband from students during his 16 years as a high school administrator.

The knife was just one of many props - which included a letter opener and several marijuana pipes - Mr. Hixon showed students, along with other items students have brought to school during the past two decades.

Mr. Hixon addressed all the students in the school's health classes to inform students of their constitutional rights.

"I'm here to talk to you about rights: your rights and the school's rights," Mr. Hixon said.

"Nowhere is there a bigger population of people at an experimental age with drugs and alcohol in this town than right here in this building. We (the administration) have to be careful about who and what comes into this building," he said.

He reminded students that the rules and regulations that now govern student and administration behavior weren't always what they are today. When Mr. Hixon began teaching 38 years ago, he said teachers were expected to do "anything an understanding parent" would do in terms of punishment and discipline.

"It wasn't unusual for physical reprimands to be used back then," he said.

Around the late 1960s and early '70s school policies began to change, he said. Many cases involving students' vs. teachers' rights made their way to the U.S. Supreme Court. He told the students the majority of the cases set precedents allowing school administrators to search students' lockers and personal property if they have reason to believe illegal contraband is present.

Mr. Hixon said almost all of the information his office receives about illegal drugs or weapons in school comes from students and not faculty.

"Most of the information we received comes from you," he told the students. "I like to think I know a lot of what goes on in this school, but of course I don't know everything. Maybe it's better that I don't - I wouldn't sleep at night."

One student brought a sawed-off shot gun into the school more than 10 years ago. A fellow student who knew about the gun told a teacher, who then notified Mr. Hixon, who was at the time assistant principal.

A more recent case, this time involving drugs, occurred about three years ago.

"A friend of this young man came to me," said Mr. Hixon. "The friend of the student had begun using crack cocaine during the summer and now this young man was afraid his friend would begin selling the stuff at the high school."

Mr. Hixon said he called the suspected student into his office and confronted him with the information. The student denied the rumors, and Mr. Hixon told him he'd rather encourage him to get help than catch him and have to involve the authorities. Mr. Hixon said as far as he knew that was as far as the suspected drug use went. He didn't hear any more about the student or drugs.

"Let me make this clear," he told the students. "There are no ifs ands or buts about it: You will be arrested" if you are caught with drugs.

Narcotics agents have posed as students at Andover High within the last 15 years, said Mr. Hixon. But he assured the students that this wouldn't happen while he was principal.

"I don't believe in entrapment," he said.

After the second narcotics agent was placed at the high school, seven students were arrested. Four were senior boys, who were arrested and taken away in handcuffs as they practiced for graduation, which they would have participated in the next day.

Mr. Hixon said his fear for the future is that steroids will become the next drug problem.

"Students, especially the athletes, will be pushing for the edge and thinking that steroids can bring them excellence," he said.

Helping the new kid at school

By Kathy Kim

A new program at Andover High School is helping freshmen get off to a good start.

Last spring, Grace Park, then a senior member of the Student Advisory Council, proposed an idea for a freshmen orientation. As a result, a "pilot program" was established this fall with the help of five guidance counselors: Mike Marcoux, Peggy Cain, Ruby Easton, Mike Wartman and Paula Gray.

"The purpose of the program is to match upperclassmen with freshmen to show the freshmen that the upperclassmen do care about them," Ms. Gray said. "Also, it helps welcome them to a new environment and offer them an opportunity to meet with older kids, who can offer answers to problems similarly experienced."

Head counselor Easton added that the program helps freshmen feel included and, in the process, "build[s] friendships among all four grades."

And according to students, it's working. "It is a great way to help us adjust to the high school," said freshman Sooann Choi. "Meeting many upperclassmen makes the high school seem a lot smaller."

The program asks that upperclassmen, who volunteer meet certain criteria.

"Although the criteria is based on an honor system, we require that upperclassmen sign and honor a contract to stay drug and alcohol free, have passing grades and follow the school's discipline code," Mr. Marcoux said.

A total of 126 upperclassmen were selected for the program for their leadership skill.

Although the reasons for establishing the program are clear, this year's goal seems to focus on learning from the trial program.

"Hopefully, as the years progress and as we learn from our mistakes, the upperclassmen will start taking charge, and all we have to do is organize meetings," Ms. Gray said.

Many students, both upperclassmen and freshmen, have their own ideas.

"I think an overnight retreat of some kind with the freshmen will help get everybody to know each other better," said junior Layne Whitley.

Kelly Cronin, a freshman, wishes the group meeting would last longer "because it is a lot of fun and I'm interested in getting to know the upperclassmen better."

Kathy Kim is a senior at Andover High.

'Meeting many upperclassmen makes the high school seem a lot smaller.'

Sanborn students visit elderly

Focusing on this year's "Hands Around the World" international theme, Sanborn Elementary School celebrated its 12th annual Harvest Festival. During Harvest Festival week, the families of Sanborn students donated food, baked goods, flowers and gifts, which were packaged in gift boxes and delivered by fifth-grade students to the homes of elderly people in Andover.

"The senior citizens delight each year in their visit from the children of Sanborn," said Sally Barron, one of the organizers. "The children, on the other hand, are very proud to present their gift package from the families of Sanborn."

"After the presentation of their gift, the children find themselves enjoying conversation with their 'surrogate grandpar-

Volunteers learn more about service

Members of the Andover High School community service board of directors attended the Youth Service America's national conference in Washington, D. C., last month.

Accompanied by two faculty advisers, community service coordinator Jay Darrin and assistant coordinator Dave Gangl, board members Kyle Blais, Jennifer Cavicchi, Andrea Rizzo, Julie Doherty and Jennifer Batts traveled to the nation's capital Oct. 25-27.

Together with members and youth presenters from the YSA affiliate, the Thomas Jefferson Forum in Boston, the Andover High students took part in a series of seminars and presentations on the values of service learning.

The theme of the second annual convention was "A New Generation of Service." The keynote address was given by Brian Holloway, director of community relations for the New York State Division of Youth. A former professional football player for the New England Patriots and the Los Angeles Raiders, Mr. Holloway stressed the idea of a "new spirit of commitment" sweeping the country by America's youth.

The Andover delegation was part of the 35-member Massachusetts contingent, which interacted with students and adult coordinators from throughout the United States.

Seminars on the agenda for the conference focused on topics such as local school community partnerships, service in the curriculum and age-appropriate programs for kindergarten to high school students.

Students attended workshops, met with members of the Youth Volunteer Corps of America, participated in a special C-SPAN taping and coordinated a variety of student-directed forums and panel discussions.

The three-day conference ended with a workshop, "Main Street USA," which encompassed a wide array of skills needed in program development. Andover students worked with other volunteers in identifying community agencies and other youth service groups, writing proposals and generating ideas.

The five board members will report back to the 16-person board at Andover High's community service board of directors' meeting, Friday, Nov. 30.

YOUTH LINE

Dear Youth Line:

I have an 11-year-old daughter who is interested in gymnastics. She shows great promise. I want to encourage her but not push her. What should I do?

Mother

Dear Mother:

I would start her in some class at the local YMCA, and then go on to a gym team. I hope she does well.

Peer counselor

Dear Mother:

There is often a fine line between "encouragement" and "pushing too far." The best source of determining whether you have crossed that line is your daughter. Share your concern with her; communication is a wonderful tool.

If she's performing because she likes it, if she's enjoying herself, if she appears excited before and after practice, chances are her participation is out of enjoyment.

In this case, continued encouragement is recommended. If her behaviors and attitude appear negative, this most likely is indicative of how she is feeling regarding the sport, and I would pull back so that the encouragement isn't seen as pushing.

Psychotherapist.

Dear Mother:

My style is to tell my child when I'm worried I'm pushing. So here's what I probably would say to my daughter: "I believe you have a lot of talent and if you want, you can (fill in the blank with 'take lessons' or whatever). But I'm worried I may be pushing you, so feel free to say, 'Hey Mom, buzz off, I don't want to (fill in the blank).'"

Sanborn Elementary students celebrate spirit of giving

ent.' Many of the children have grandparents who live out of state."

The harvest festival was inspired by Mary Gruziejka, a past music specialist at Sanborn, who had spent a sabbatical in England where visiting the elderly is an annual pre-holiday custom for school children. On her return, she and three Sanborn mothers who came from England started what is now a tradition at the school.

Mothers besides Ms. Barron who carried on the tradition this year were Lori Comeau, Ann Muller, Cathi Burnett and Paulette Zuena.

They recruited the students, parents, Scout troops and teachers of Sanborn, and, along with Principal Eileen Woods, organized the festival program.

Gifts were placed in cardboard cartons after they had been wrapped in green paper by a crew of Sanborn mothers and Girl and Cub scouts. The boxes were decorated with Pilgrim hats, pumpkins and fall leaves cut out by Brownies.

Baked goods were donated by the Girl and Cub Scouts. The Cub Scouts made baskets from popsicle sticks in which they placed their baked goods. Scouts also made stenciled greeting cards for each of the boxes.

The festivities began Thursday with a speech by Sanborn's guest of honor, Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Seifert, who has addressed the Harvest Festival assembly many times before. But this festival was special: It would be Dr. Seifert's last before his retirement this year. Principal Woods paid special tribute to Dr. Seifert by dedicating the Sanborn auditorium in his name.

After the dedication, students entertained the parents, staff and seniors who attended with international songs and dances.

The children wore native dress from at least 13 countries - most of which Dr. Seifert has visited in his travels. Represented were Germany and France by the first-graders; England, Israel and Mexico by second-graders; Brazil, Liberia and Ghana by third-graders; Canada and Arabia by fourth-graders; and Scotland, Holland and Alaska by fifth-graders.

The multicultural talents of the families of Sanborn were represented by a "A Song of Friendship in Many Languages." Along with Spanish, French and Hebrew, the Gerstberger and Eggert families submitted the German translation; the Hsai family wrote the Chinese version; the Heneseys, Davidsons and Zizzos translated in Italian, the Patels in Hindi, the Davises in Greek, the Finns in Finnish, the Dias in Portuguese; the Polish version was by the Bauers, the Japanese version by the Yoshidas, and the Hungarian as well as Czech translation by the Rosenhecks.

The items were later packaged.

With the help of Mary Byrne of the Andover Senior Center and Pat Powers of Andover Commons, more than 80 fifth-graders mapped out a route to visit more than 95 seniors.

Each year, Sanborn receives many thank-you notes from the seniors. "I had a most enjoyable visit from three Boy Scouts from your class," said one, written by Carleton Shuke. "It is one of the nicest things that has happened to me in this holiday season."

Andover man helps set up new program

An Andover educator is involved in the inauguration of a new biomedical engineering technology program at Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston.

Professor Frederick F. Driscoll, who teaches engineering and technology at Wentworth, is assisting in the development and teaching of the new curriculum.

The program is designed to meet the increasing manpower needs of the biomedical field.

Professor Driscoll joined the Wentworth faculty in 1965. He is an electrical engineering graduate of Merrimack College and Northeastern University, where he earned his master's degree, and the author of several textbooks dealing with electronics.

Women & Joint Custody

After divorce or separation, joint legal custody means that you and your husband must consult and agree on all major decisions governing your children's lives such as medical care, education and religious training. In recent years, joint legal custody has become very fashionable for separated and divorced couples because it appears to offer a way to involve both parents in their children's lives. However, joint legal custody requires you to maintain continued contact with your husband and may mean additional Court involvement in your family's life when you and your husband cannot agree.

Mohawk Indian Toyaga Guillemette tells Christopher Burke, son of Christopher and Nancy Burke of Andover, about the headdress he's trying on. Christopher and his playmates at Cuddle Care Day Care learned about Native American life.

Cuddle Care visitor shares Indian lore

Mohawk Indian Toyaga Guillemette visited Cuddle Care Day Care on South Main Street recently.

Mr. Guillemette taught the children songs and dances and showed them artifacts. The corn husk dolls were made without faces to show that everyone is beautiful, he said. The children tried on hats made from animal skins.

Future events at Cuddle Care include a visit from Santa Claus on Dec. 8. Children may have their pictures taken with Santa and enjoy refreshments.

Cuddle Care has openings in the toddler groups and a new infant group.

Shawsheen artists exhibit at Harvard

Student artists from the Shawsheen School had their work on display at Harvard University last week. The exhibit was in the lobby of Gutman Library in Harvard's School of Education.

Their teacher, Dolores Dunning, is currently working on her doctorate at the school, and often organizes Andover students' exhibits there.

School celebrates book month with three-day book fair

The annual Parent-Teacher Organization-sponsored book fair at the Early Childhood Center at Shawsheen will be held Thursday, Nov. 29, to Saturday, Dec. 1, in the school's activity center.

Fair hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Thursday; 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday; and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

The Shawsheen PTO and school librarian Dorie Bicknell have chosen more than 400 titles, giving special attention to variety, quality, enjoyment and educational value, PTO members said.

Mrs. Bicknell will give a talk on "Selecting Books for Young Children from 4 to 7 Years Old" Thursday, Nov. 29, at 7:30 p.m.

She is also a reviewer for "Appraisal Magazine" and an in-service instructor in children's literature.

For the first time the fair will be open on Saturday, making it easier for working parents and families to enjoy the book fair together, organizers said.

Stories will be read on the stage in the activity center from 10:15 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. The stories will feature some of the books on sale and entertain the children, making browsing and shopping a little easier.

The fair is particularly appropriate this month, which is National Book Month.

Lawrence needs after-school tutors

The Adult Learning Center is looking for volunteers to tutor Lawrence students after school.

Anyone from high school students to senior citizens can provide extra help for homeless students and others who need academic support. The program takes three hours a week.

Tell us your Favorite Holiday Window or In-Store Display

Visit the downtown shops and see their beautiful holiday window and in-store displays. The merchants are always willing to help you with your shopping needs and provide you with the quality service, you as a customer, deserve.

The Andover Townsman would like our readers to tell us which downtown merchant has the best window or in-store holiday display. It's real easy...when you're downtown, take a look at the merchants' window and in-store displays, write your decision down on the coupon below, and mail it to the Townsman.

First, second and third place plaques will be awarded to the top three choices.

You will automatically be entered into a special drawing!

The drawing for special prizes, donated by the merchants, will be on December 13th.

Several people will be awarded prizes!

Winners will be announced in the December 20th issue of the Townsman.

Four students from Andover High School were selected to audition at the New England Theatre Conference annual convention in Portland, Maine. Pictured with their teacher, Bob Lague, third from left, the students are Jason Barenholtz, Elaine Eriksen, Mandy Gulezian and Betsy Taylor. Workshops, performances by professional, community and school groups, lectures and exhibits of theatrical goods were featured at the convention. Colleges that feature theater programs held auditions for New England high school seniors. Only 50 seniors from all of New England are allowed to audition by special application. All the Andover High student actors were in the recent AHS production's "Fiddler on the Roof" and "You Can't Take It with You."

Children's acting troupe holds auditions

The Merrimack Junior Theatre, in conjunction with the Andover Department of Community Services, will hold auditions for its winter/spring production, "Oliver."

The musical is open to young people in grades six through 10.

Auditions will be held Wednesday, Dec. 5, and Thursday, Dec. 6, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Doherty Middle School auditorium on Bartlett Street.

Rehearsals start the first week in January. Primary rehearsal days are Mondays and Wednesdays. The production dates are April 5, 6 and 7.

Auditioners should be prepared to act out a short poem or brief monologue, sing a few bars of "America" ("My Country 'Tis of Thee") and bring a photograph of themselves.

With a goal of building life skills through theater arts, the Merrimack Junior Theatre is a non-profit children's troupe.

The group recently performed the musical "No, No, a Million Times No!"

BU students graduate

Three Andover residents were among 1,053 degree recipients at Boston University this fall.

Breck Arnzen received a master of education degree in human resource education. Teresa M. Carne and Diane M. Farrell both received master of business administration degrees in business administration and management.

Resident earns school honors

Curt Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Solomon of Andover, received honors from the Berkshire School in Sheffield for the first marking period.

Mr. Solomon is a senior at the school.

A student must have a grade point average of 3 or better and no grade below C to be named to the honor roll.

BABY TALK

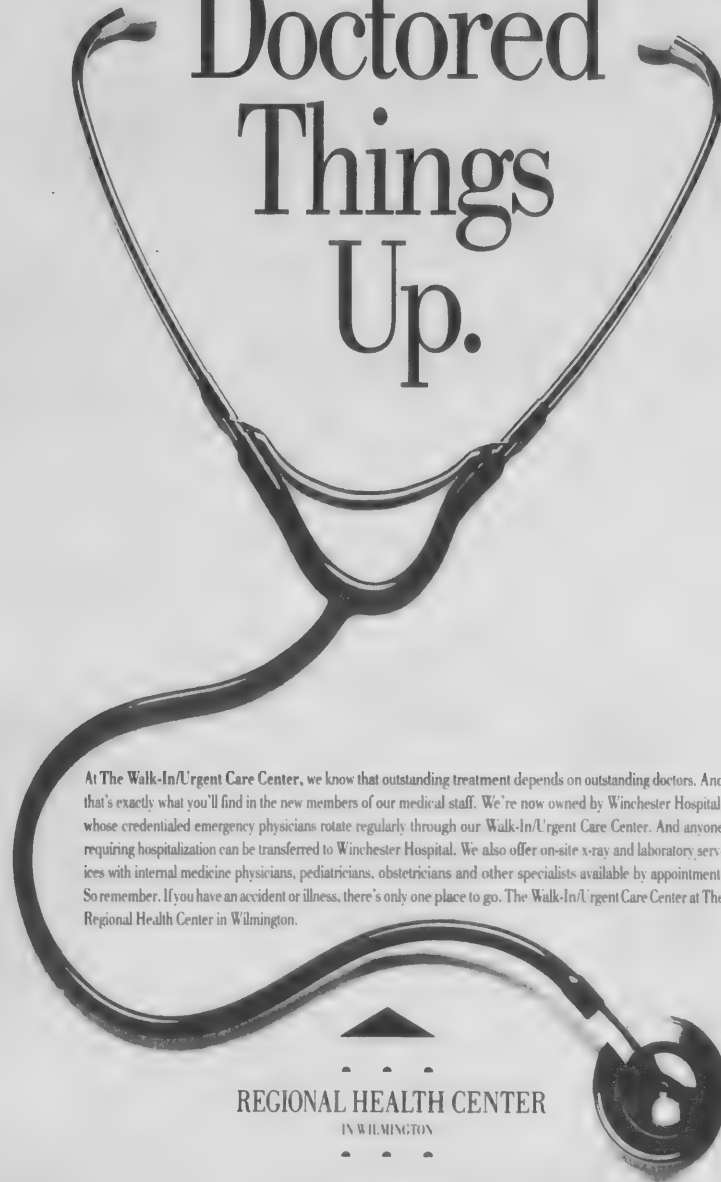

by Jack Resnick

Interpreting a baby's cries and deciding how to respond to them can be baffling. Perhaps nothing is more upsetting to parents than the sound of their newborn's cry. Is he hungry, we, tired? Should they pick the infant up, or is it better to let him cry it out? Whatever you do during the early months, don't leave your child to wait alone for hours on end. The early interplay between mother and baby has an important place in the development of your child's understanding. Of course, finding out what is bothering your baby will benefit both of you by enhancing your relationship and improving your child's sense of well-being.

Let the staff at TINY TOTLAND assist and guide you through your purchase of baby furniture. Leading brand names by Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigaux. Tel. 1-603-623-6171. Open 9-5:30. M. & Th. 9-9. We have lamps, wall hangings, toys, carriages and much more at TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, NH "Where Quality Costs You Less."

People Like The Way We've Doctored Things Up.

At The Walk-In/Urgent Care Center, we know that outstanding treatment depends on outstanding doctors. And that's exactly what you'll find in the new members of our medical staff. We're now owned by Winchester Hospital, whose credentialed emergency physicians rotate regularly through our Walk-In/Urgent Care Center. And anyone requiring hospitalization can be transferred to Winchester Hospital. We also offer on-site x-ray and laboratory services with internal medicine physicians, pediatricians, obstetricians and other specialists available by appointment. So remember, if you have an accident or illness, there's only one place to go. The Walk-In/Urgent Care Center at The Regional Health Center in Wilmington.

Pike School takes break

A Thanksgiving assembly marked the end of the fall session at the Pike School. Three hundred ninety-six students from prekindergarten through grade nine gathered with their teachers.

On display during the assembly were more than 400 spoons that the students and faculty had decorated for donation to Project Bread, a non-profit organization designed to relieve hunger, mainly in Massachusetts.

For each spoon donated to Project Bread, friends of that organization will donate $10, up to $100,000. Made to be used as Christmas ornaments, the spoons contributed by Pike could realize more than $4,000 for the needy.

In addition to this year's donation of the spoons, another schoolwide project was a collection of supplies to be given to Bread and Roses, the house of hospitality of Lawrence. The Bread and Roses Thanksgiving collection has been going on for many years at Pike.

The school closed for the holiday at 11:30 a.m. today and reopens on Monday, Nov. 26.

West Elementary hops for cause

Youngsters at West Elementary School learned about physical disabilities Friday through a special Easter Seal program, sponsored by TJX Cos. Inc.

The Easter Seal Hop-n-ing teaches children about the causes of disabilities and their effects on people's everyday lives. The children also find out how wheelchairs, crutches and other specialized equipment work.

The Hop-n-ing gives the kids a chance to help. They hop as many times as they can in three minutes, earning money pledged for each hop.

Funds raised help provide Easter Seal services for people with disabilities. Services include summer camp, therapeutic swim program, home and health care, physical, occupational and speech therapy, equipment loan, support groups and information and referral services.

Last year more than 12,000 children across Massachusetts learned about disabilities and hopped for Easter Seals, raising $255,000.

Eric Holter helps computer team place

Eric Holter of Boston Road was one of a team of students from Daniel Webster College that placed third in the northeast regional competition of the Association for Computing Machinery Contest held at the University of Lowell Oct. 20.

The Daniel Webster College team came in just behind Harvard College and Brown University, respectively.

The all-day contest was the first round of competition of this international computer programming contest. Fifteen schools from around New England participated with Daniel Webster College in the first round.

Mr. Holter is a senior majoring in computer science.

Y hosts post-holiday program for kids

The Andover North Andover branch of the Merrimack Valley YMCA will offer a day of fun and games for school-age children on Friday, Nov. 23.

The activities include swimming, gym, games, cooking, crafts and mat room games, said Cathy Dawson, the Y's youth program director.

"This will give children a chance to release energy after the holiday and perhaps give parents a start on holiday shopping alone." The program will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Extended hours are available from 7:30 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

The program is open to members and non-members.

"ALL YOU HAD TO DO WAS ASK FOR IT."

"You wanted an exciting banking program, so we created Group 50 Plus.

You've worked hard all your life and you're at least 50 years of age. You qualify for Andover Bank's most exciting program — Group 50 Plus — yet another Andover Bank program we've developed to help your dreams come true.

Group 50 Plus is an interest bearing, low minimum balance (only $100) checking account with benefits that include travel discounts, periodic special CD rate offerings, discounts and rebates on safe deposit boxes, free traveler's checks, and much more. Group 50 Plus lets you access a whole package of money saving benefits

Everyone at Andover Bank hopes you will share our excitement about Group 50 Plus. We are committed to look for new ways to improve and expand the benefits offered by the program.

That dedication, combined with our integrity, financial strength and quality service, ensures that you really are the most important customer we'll ever have."

Joseph and Ann Canavan

Ann Slater marries Joseph Canavan

Ann Deborah Slater and Joseph William Canavan were married at the Ipswich Country Club in Ipswich Sept. 16. They took a wedding trip to Hawaii.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Slater of North Reading and Brewster, formerly of Andover. A graduate of Andover High School, she graduated from Colby College in Waterville, Maine, and is an assistant vice president at State Street Bank and Trust Co. in Quincy.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Canavan of Brockton, graduated from Syracuse University in Syracuse, N.Y. He is an accountant at State Street Research and Management Co. in Boston.

The couple lives in Stoughton.

Peter and Karin Lupariello

Karin Mesler weds Peter Lupariello

Karin Elaine Mesler and Peter Matthew Lupariello were married in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Calvin Mutti at South Church.

Given in marriage by her father, Larry Mesler, the bride was attended by Dr. Brenda (Mesler) Cowell, matron of honor; and Mary-Frances (Lupariello) Angelillo, Julie Hovious and Beth Ann Dennehy, bridesmaids.

Christopher Lupariello was best man; Dr. Douglas Mesler, Dr. Michael Angelillo and Theodore A. Rosenberger were ushers.

Following a reception at the Andover Marriott, the couple left for the Bahamas and Disney World.

The bride, daughter of Larry and Sue Mesler of 12 Fulton Road, is a graduate of Merrimack College.

Her husband, son of John and Jeannette Lupariello of Lawrenceville, N.J., is a graduate of Lafayette College and Boston University School of Management.

They live in Hamilton, N.J.

Wedding announcement forms are available at the Townsman.

The Andover Choral Society meets at Christ Church, Central Street, Tuesdays at 7:15 p.m. The group is preparing a Haydn program including "Lord Nelson's Mass." No audition is required. Allen Combs is the new director.

Juana Mendoza, John Moriarty marry

Juana Mendoza and John M. Moriarty were married recently at the Iglesia El Vergel in Cuenca, Ecuador. The groom, formerly of Andover, is the son of William E. Moriarty, now of North Andover, and the late Terese O. Moriarty. The bride is the daughter of Elvia de Mendoza of Cuenca and the late Pablo Mendoza.

Ursula Mendoza, the bride's sister, served as the maid of honor. Melissa Mendoza, the bride's daughter, served as the ring bearer; and Danilla Mendoza, the bride's niece, was the flower girl. The bride's mother and brother, Pablo Mendoza, served as witnesses for the bride.

The groom's father and sister, Anne Moriarty, were his witnesses. Brien and Stephen Moriarty also attended their brother's wedding.

The groom is a graduate of St. Anselm College and received his master's degree in special education from Lesley College. He is a volunteer with the U.S. Peace Corps in Cuenca.

Juana and John Moriarty

The bride is a special education teacher in the same school as the groom.

Barbara Najjar, James Hijiya engaged

Mr. and Mrs. George Najjar Jr. of Johnstown, Pa., announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara of Andover, to James Alan Hijiya of South Dartmouth, son of Namiko Hijiya of Spokane, Wash., and the late George Hijiya.

Miss Najjar is a 1969 graduate of Bishop McCort High School and a 1973 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. She is an area manager of LensCrafters in Boston.

Mr. Hijiya was graduated from Lewis and Clark High School in Spokane in 1967 and graduated from Brown University in 1971. He received a doctoral degree from Cornell University in 1977.

Mr. Hijiya is a professor of history at Southeastern Massachusetts University in Dartmouth.

A May 1991 wedding is planned.

Mothers of Twins Club to meet Tuesday

The North Suburban Mothers of Twins Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 7:45 p.m. at First Baptist Church, corner of Lafayette and Common streets, Wakefield.

Julie Kiricoples, director of Project Plus in Salem, will speak on "Positive Parenting with Regards to Substance Abuse."

The club gathers monthly to give mothers of multiples the chance to meet others with whom to share ideas and stories, trade clothing and equipment and offer support.

All mothers and prospective mothers of multiples are invited.

Christ Church readies for fair

The annual Christmas fair at Christ Church in Andover is a tradition that goes back many years. It began as a small fair run by the women of the parish. Today the fair involves most members of the church.

This year's fair, called "A Celebration of Christmas," will be held Saturday, Dec. 1, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church, 25 Central St. Chairwomen are Helen Booty, Carter Rountree, Caryn Harkins and Kathleen Bates.

Members of the parish spend all year making stuffed animals and toys for the children's table. The gift table also features items crafted by parishioners. The fair always has a lot of bargains at attic treasures and the old books' table.

Santa Claus finds time to visit with the children and again this year a model railroad will be set up so young and old enthusiasts can run the trains.

The fair always shares its proceeds with a local non-profit organization not connected with Christ Church. A 10 percent tithe of the net proceeds is given to the chosen organization. Over the years such groups as the Samaritans, Habitat for Humanity and Andover ABC have been financially rewarded by the Christ Church fair. Last year a check for $1,031 was presented to Merrimack Valley Hospice.

Raspberries Eatery of Andover will provide lunch in the parish hall and the teenagers of the parish will provide babysitting.

Congregation Tifereth begins regular services in Andover

Congregation Tifereth Anshai Sfard and Sons of Israel, a Conservative Jewish synagogue, will hold regular services in Andover. One Friday night and one Saturday morning service will be celebrated each month at the St. Augustine's Education Center. The services are open to anyone interested in a conservative minyan.

The Friday service will be held Nov. 30 at 7:30 p.m., followed by an Oneg Shabbat. The next Saturday service will be Dec. 8 at 9 a.m. The Torah reading begins at approximately 10; the service will be followed by a kiddush.

The fair will be held Saturday, Dec. 1, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at North Parish Unitarian Church, 190 Academy Road, North Andover. It will feature handmade crafts by church members and other craftspeople, baked goods, plants, a luncheon and a silent auction.

Andover churches celebrate together

"Community Gathers for Thanksgiving" is the theme of an interfaith service Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Faith Lutheran Church in Andover. Participating parishes in this annual Thanksgiving eve service are Andover Baptist, Ballardvale United, Christ, Faith Lutheran, Free Christian, St. Augustine, St. Robert Bellarmine, South, Unitarian Universalist and West churches, Temple Emanuel and Phillips Academy's Cochran Chapel.

The service's collection offering will be given to Neighbors in Need, a food pantry in Lawrence whose programs feed the hungry of the Merrimack Valley. Individuals are also encouraged to bring non-perishable food items.

West Parish steeple returns today

By Melissa DeMeo

The decapitated West Parish Church will get its steeple back some time today.

Sky Line Engineering's crane will arrive at the Reservation Road church Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 9 a.m., and will hoist the steeple back on within a few hours, said Warren Lewis, chairman of the church's restoration committee.

The steeple is part of an approximately $1 million renovation project for the 165-year-old church, the oldest church building in Greater Lawrence. Its skin has been replaced, but the original framework is intact, Mr. Lewis said. It's been on the ground next to the church for two years.

Once up, the steeple will still need a finish coat of paint, which may be applied this fall, but will most likely have to wait until the spring, Mr. Lewis said. Although the steeple has all its undercoats, the contractor says it will be just as easy to apply the final coat from a boatswain's chair. The structure is now rigged to make future paintings a little easier, Mr. Lewis said.

Spring may see the completion of several other projects as well.

"We still have quite a bit of work to do," said Mr. Lewis, who said the church needs landscaping, a new floor and maybe exterior painting.

So far, West Parish has a new roof and ceiling and has been completely rewired. Its bell, which dates at least from the Civil War, has been restored and is now completely functional. Although the clapper worked, the bell could not rock back and forth, Mr. Lewis said.

"For years we didn't get the ding-bang; we just had the ding-dong," he said with a laugh.

"It's a lot of work — especially when you're operating in a democratic society like West Parish Church," added Mr. Lewis, whose committee has been working on the restoration for three years and with as many contractors. "We hope we've fixed it for the next 165 years."

In November of 1988, the West Parish Church spire was removed in the first step of repair work.

Selectmen reverse vote — endorse Marland Mills

By Don Staruk

Four members of the Board of Selectmen Monday night reversed a previous vote not to endorse "the concept" of creating affordable housing at the old Marland Mills buildings on Stevens Street and will now sign a letter in support of the project.

All five board members unanimously refused to sign a letter in support of the same project at the beginning of October. Selectman Gerald Silverman was not at Monday's meeting because of a work commitment.

The board agreed to send a letter to the Executive Office of Communities and Development stating "conditional support" for a concept to develop 124 units of housing at the mill site, 24 of which will be "affordable lower income."

The letter was requested by the developers of the project to help them qualify for Teller government subsidized funding. The applications are being reviewed by EOCD now and will either be accepted for further consideration or denied in early December.

Selectmen had, and still have, several concerns with the project including traffic congestion along Stevens Street, Shawsheen River flood levels on the mill property and the impact on the town's infrastructure including the schools.

The proposed development is a joint project between The Boston Land Company and Bertram Paley, the owner of the property.

'Nothing will happen without local approval from the Planning Board.'

Chet Atkins to hold forum in Andover on the Middle East

U. S. Rep. Chester Atkins, (D-Concord) will hold an informal public forum on the Persian Gulf Crisis Thursday, Nov. 29, in the Memorial Hall Library from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Rep. Atkins said he hopes to answer questions the public may have concerning the crisis and get an overall feeling of people's impressions of the situation in the Middle East.

Kaps looks at the former Scanlon's Hardware site

By Don Staruk

The new management of the Barnard Building, at 10-16 Main St., is in negotiations with several retailers in an effort to fill the void on Main Street left by the closing of Scanlon's Hardware.

The Bruk Company, of 23 Main St., has been hired by Family Bank, of Haverhill, to manage the building, according to Jeff Bruk, a manager of the family-owned real estate development business.

"We're in the process of trying to stabilize the building in terms of leasing the property," Mr. Bruk said last week. "I'm actually negotiating with several tenants both for office and retail."

Mr. Bruk indicated that at least one of the tenants is a large company, or at least larger than Scanlon's was.

"Whatever we put in will be compatible with the location," Mr. Bruk said.

Kaps Menswear, an upscale men's clothing store, may be interested in locating one of its stores in the Barnard Building, according to owner Richard Kapelson.

"We may very well be," Mr. Kapelson said. "Some people have been talking to me about it and they're trying to make it palatable."

At this point, however, Mr. Kapelson said all he is doing is listening.

Kaps has stores on Essex Street in Lawrence, Nashua, N.H., Swampscott and in the Burlington Mall.

Rumors that The Gap might move into the Barnard Building, or into any other location in Andover, are "premature," according to Alan Barocas, leasing representative for The Gap Stores Inc.

"The rumors of our presence are greatly exaggerated," Mr. Barocas said Monday. "It may be some premature speculation on some people's part."

Mr. Barocas did say that The Gap is looking for new areas northeast of Boston, but he wouldn't be more specific.

"We're just looking at the market," he said.

A lack of parking in the central business district is a problem in trying to find tenants, according to Mr. Bruk.

But new tenants in the Barnard Building will not be required to provide additional parking unless their business constitutes a significant change in use, according to Stephen Colyer, town planning director.

The businesses currently in the Barnard Building did not have to comply with current zoning regulations for providing parking spaces because the uses were treated as existing prior to the zoning, according to Mr. Colyer. That ruling would carry over to new businesses unless they fell into a different zoning category than the preexisting businesses.

TOWNTALK

Steve Richardson, assistant principal at Andover High, believes even though he didn't make it through the entire Great American Smokeout day, last Thursday without smoking, his effort was still successful because he only had a few cigarettes rather than his usual half-a-pack. "I did pretty well. I stayed busy during the day and didn't find myself wanting to go up to the school's smoking room to have one," he said. The high school has a teachers' smoking room on the second floor. He said the hardest part of the 24 hours was Thursday evening because his wife, Kathy, smokes too. He said he's quit in the past, but it has only lasted two weeks at the most. Mr. Richardson has been smoking since he was 17 years old and he hopes his effort last Thursday will eventually lead to his quitting for good.

Cub scouts from Den 6, Pack 73, all fifth-grade students at Bancroft School, told the Board of Selectmen Monday night one thing they liked and one thing they didn't like about Andover.

Mark Jacobson, of 79 Pine St., said the fire and police departments do a good job, but that "the sidewalks should be plowed in winter," so it is safer for children walking to school.

David Chaplin, of 21 Lucerne Drive, also said the sidewalks should be improved, but said the school system is good and has well qualified teachers.

Eric Marshall, of 102 Summer St., said Andover is "peaceful and quiet," but said Shawsheen Plaza could use some lights or more stop signs.

Matthew MacKenzie, of 32 Maple Ave., likes the fact that Andover started recycling but said the town should allow skating (skate boarding) in the library parking lot.

Brad Smith, of 48 Salem St., likes the protection provided by the police and fire department, and he would like to see the old bowling alley on Park Street turned into a teen recreation center by the town.

Matthew Gilmore, of 8 Elysian Drive, likes the library and would like to have the old bowling alley restored as a bowling alley.

Chris Sand, of 17 Abbot St., likes the recycling and wants a bakery and a hardware store in town.

The Scouts presentation to selectmen was part of their work toward earning their citizenship badge.

In other Boy Scout news, the North Essex Council finished its food drive when Scouts collected the bags they'd asked local residents to fill.

Although cans were still coming in at press time, the drive brought in 19,000 to 20,000 cans for the needy, according to Ed Pastor, district executive of the council.

About 1,250 Scouts and their leaders participated in the "Scouting for Food" Good Turn, which involved 43 units from Andover, Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen, Mr. Pastor said.

The food was taken to the Naval-Marine Reserve Center in South Lawrence, where it will be separated and trucked to local food pantries and soup kitchens, with the help of the Massachusetts National Guard.

About 125 people joined a candlelight vigil Sunday evening, outside of Old Town Hall, to protest the possibility of war in the Middle East. Organized by Peter Dillard of Pasho Street, participants sang peace songs and talked about stopping war. Dr. Dillard, who has a draft-age son, 18-year old Carl who is a freshman at U-Mass, is worried young people may have to participate in a war that's not necessary. Dr. Dillard said he didn't do much to organize Sunday's event; people just wanted to speak out against war. "It was a very nice vigil," he said. "A lot of people were meeting each other for the first time." Since the event, Dr. Dillard said he has received several phone calls from people who are interested in doing more about preventing a war. Although nothing is planned at this point, he said people are concerned and very supportive about preventing war.

Santa Parade is Sunday

By Don Staruk

Horses, a bear and Scottish bagpipes will welcome Santa Claus to town this Sunday, Nov. 25, at 1:30 p.m. for the annual Santa's Parade sponsored by the Andover Fire Department.

Parade floats and costumed characters from churches, businesses and the Andona Society will escort Mr. Claus through the downtown.

The Andover High School Marching Band, the Sons of Italy Band and Clan MacPherson Scottish Band will provide music. Smokey Bear will march along with the Aleppo Horse Brigade, a group of palomino horses ridden by Shriners.

Firefighters will hand out candy all along the parade route.

For the first time this year, Johnny Garabedian, a resident who was made an honorary fireman when he faced life-threatening open heart surgery in 1983, will ride in the parade, according to Lt. Walter Potvin, a co-chairman of the event.

"We'll have him riding one of the antique pieces of equipment," Lt. Potvin said.

"I love seeing kids happy and I love seeing people happy," Mr. Garabedian said this week. "I'm looking forward to it. Everybody

High school students are communicating with a tank brigade stationed in Saudi Arabia

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Students at Andover High School have adopted a tank brigade stationed in Saudi Arabia and they are encouraging townspeople to help them write letters and collect gifts for the soldiers.

Math teacher Kathy Aeder, who is coordinating the effort at AHS, said the students are very excited about the program and have brought in dozens of letters and gift items for the soldiers of the Army's 1st (Tiger) Brigade of the 2nd Armored Division during the first few collection days. Collection will continue in the school's main foyer through Monday, Dec. 3.

"The kids think this is a great way to stay on top of current events, since they'll have contact with people involved in it. They had a choice of the tank brigade or an Italian paratrooper unit," she said.

The AHS collection is part of a nationwide effort to support U.S. service men and women stationed overseas as part of Operation Desert Shield. Anyone interested in writing a letter or sending gift items can drop them off during school hours in the high school main foyer.

Gifts shouldn't be wrapped, because all items must be listed on a customs office information list, said Ms. Aeder. Letters should have standard 25 cent postage and the salutation should begin with "Dear Soldier" or "Dear Friend," suggests Donald Grimes, the founder of the America Remembers Campaign, which was started in 1983.

Mr. Grimes said he has found through coordinating national letter writing campaigns during the past seven years soldiers have said the highlight of their day is mail call. Letters should be addressed and mailed to America Remembers the Tiger Brigade, c/o LTC Kenneth Vreeland, Operation Desert Shield, HHQ 1st Brigade (Tiger), 2 AD, APO

New York, 09371-0000.

Gift items such as Kool Aid powdered drink mixes, personal toiletry items, crossword puzzles and comics are suggested. Bakery and pork items are discouraged, said Ms. Aeder.

"Pork items aren't allowed because of Saudi customs and baked goods are discouraged because there is a pretty slim chance that they would make the trip in one piece," she said.

Andover high students will also sell yellow ribbons that they will encourage people to tie around a tree in their yard. The ribbons will be sold at AHS and two downtown locations during the week of Nov. 26-30, for "about a $1," said Ms. Aeder. The proceeds will go towards financing the postage for gift items.

"Hopefully the entire Andover community will support this effort to let the soldiers know that they are not forgotten over the holidays," said Ms. Aeder.

This news is not a rumor

The Townsman is not in the habit of printing rumors. Yes, we hunt them down, but if they are just rumors, our policy is not to print them.

That's why today there is a story about possible tenants for the Barnard Building, at 10-16 Main St., the site of the former Scanlon's Hardware Store.

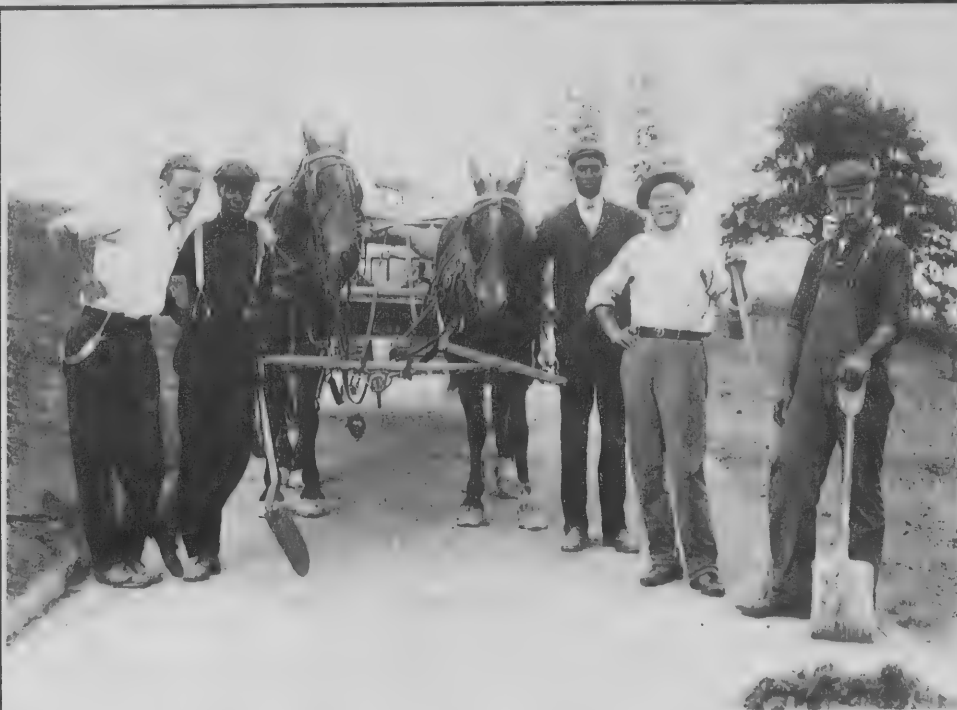

Like you, we have heard the rumors of who might be considering moving to Andover, perhaps in that building, maybe in another, maybe the former post office on Main Street.

We are intent upon printing stories about possible tenants, if they truly are considering a move here, for two reasons. One is that such thinking is good news about the economy, and more specifically, about the health of downtown Andover. We find ourselves thinking in a more positive fashion if businesses as successful as Kaps and The Gap are studying downtown Andover. If the Strawberry Tree, a card and gift shop, is opening here, and there's other establishments considering the same, the news during this economically recessed time isn't all bad.

The second reason we print the story is because we, as well as merchants and town officials, would like to hear from you, Andover's residents, about what you would like to see in downtown Andover. If you believe the area will support another men's clothing store, say so, that could encourage Mr. Kapelson to open here. If The Gap sounds like a good idea, why not tell the Townsman? Send a message to potential merchants.

We would like to see a hardware store or another grocery store in the downtown, but we've heard neither of those would be practical for the merchant. The available sites are not large enough, apparently, to carry either enough groceries or hardware items with a large enough profit margin for such a business to make a go here.

So being reasonable, why not voice what you would like to see in downtown Andover. Like the merchants and town officials, we may be able to make a difference.

The Andover Historical Society's Newman Collection includes this 1908 glass negative of the West Parish Cemetery during its construction. The print is by Ray Sprague and is on the cover of the society's recently released 1991 calendar, which is for sale in local stores and bookstores.

A gift of music in the afternoon sunshine

By Perry Catlin

The Mironovichs, Leonard and Jean, are Andover's latest gift.

I attended their concert Sunday at Memorial Hall Library, along with scores of other interested people and there was standing room only, including about three dozen on their feet at the back of the room.

I sat next to a woman who said she and her family members were particularly excited by the concert because their daughter takes piano lessons from Jean Mironovich.

The Mironovichs tried for almost 10 years to move from Russia to Andover, recommended by their sponsors, Edward and Tanya Kodinsky of 79 Wildwood Road.

We ran a page-one story on the Mironovichs last week, and I was especially interested to hear him play flute, and she piano after reading reporter Lisa Boudreau's story.

I was rewarded. And judging from the applause and comments I heard, the rest of the audience was pleased, too.

It was good to see so many children in the audience. They were attentive most of the time. Leonard Mironovich blows life into the flute in an effortless manner, making it look easy. And she accompanies him with knowledge and authority. I found myself wondering if this couple ever washes the dishes. I guess they would grow tired of making music together, but the flute-piano pieces were so beautiful, so often so full of sadness, that I could imagine them doing it most of their free time.

I longed to hear him talk about the pieces they played (perhaps, this is one I learned at my mother's knee, or here is my favorite composer, or something), but I suspect they could be shy using a foreign language.

I felt shy about our/the audience's lack of knowledge when the appreciative and loving group applauded a couple of times between movements instead of waiting for the end of the piece. The Mironovichs may not know our language completely, but the converse side of that is that most of us don't know their language at all, and they certainly know more about music than many of us.

That aside, I noted that their playing made little girls cross their hands in their laps and their feet at their ankles. While the afternoon sun cast a lovely pattern on the floor of Memorial Hall, I listened to polite music, pristine in sound and full of feeling.

A young child — I imagined her to be one of Ms. Mironovich's students — played an imaginary piano on her lap while the pianist played the Mozart Sonata in D Major.

From my front row seat I could see a zoomed-in view of the steeple of Andover Baptist Church. The setting was idyllic. How lucky Andover is, I thought, to have the Mironovichs add to the richness of this community. In the waltz of Benjamin Godard's Suite, which I had never heard, Mr. Mironovich was able to deliver his best to us and with a slight frown on his forehead — the only clue we had that this was work — he gave us lovely music, again.

During the Andantino movement of Frederic Chopin's Variations on the Theme by Rossini, I could have danced!

By 3:30, an hour into the concert, the bright afternoon light became more dull, and we were used to this hauntingly beautiful combo of piano and flute. During one of their several

Time to think of freedom in this country

By Elizabeth Cahoon

For Andover and other Massachusetts Christian Scientists, this Thanksgiving season has become a time to consider some of the basic rights and freedoms in this country — rights and freedoms sought by the Pilgrims when they first settled in this Commonwealth. Among these, of course, was the freedom to practice religion without the heavy hand of government encroachment.

Following the prosecution of David and Ginger Twitchell in Suffolk County Superior Court in Boston a few months ago, many Christian Scientists in Andover and in the state will be watching closely the appeal that is likely to center on the state law accommodating spiritual healing for children.

The Twitchells have chosen Christian Science treatment, which was depended on for generations in their families, in lieu of conventional medicine.

At issue is a 1971 law recognizing the right for children to receive a spiritual method of treatment that has been responsibly practiced in the commonwealth for more than 100 years.

With the final outcome of this case still to be resolved, the Thanksgiving season is providing moments of important reflection and gratitude for living in a nation that was founded on a deep respect for religion and love of God. Christian Scientists say it has become a time for them to pray that this religious foundation not be further eroded by a growing secular view that prayer no longer provides any meaningful response to health needs as it did in Jesus' day.

Andover resident Elizabeth Cahoon, a teacher at Bancroft Elementary School, is chairwoman of the executive board of trustees for the First Church of Christ Scientist.

bows, I thought I saw Jean Mironovich give the eye to one of her pupils, and the little girl smiled back.

Thank you, Leonard and Jean Mironovich. And anyone who was not able to attend their concert, I advise you make plans to attend the next one. Thank you, Friends of the Library, for bringing us the Mironoviches.

Memorial Hall Library patron praises the services there

Editor, Townsman:

I'm at the library a lot — two or three times a week, mornings, afternoons, occasionally at closing time.

I wasn't there on the evening that Ms. Stuart described though, because I've found our librarians — without exception — to be efficient, helpful and courteous. (Nov. 15 Townsman, page 43, "What's happened to the library?") Noisy or unprofessional? Never.

The scenario described by Ms. Stuart, complete with Windex-wielding janitors and menacing monitors fiercely whispering, "Hurry up, please, it's time!" is a bit fantastic. It did it really happen this way, or is Ms. Stuart, in an outpouring of waspyish spite, exaggerating just a tad.

The truth is, Memorial Hall Library is loaded with fine resources, which are freely available to us all. Staff are patient, skilled and well-informed. There's nothing second-rate about our library — it's one of the best features of the town of Andover.

Perhaps Ms. Stuart was just having a really bad day. Better luck next time, Ms. Stuart — And try getting there before 8:45!

Fire chief backs Enhanced 911

Editor, Townsman:

As a fire chief, I have seen many instances in Andover where we lost precious minutes because we were sent to the wrong location for accidents, fires and medical emergencies.

Now Andover and all Massachusetts communities have a rare opportunity to receive a lifesaving emergency telephone system that will not cost communities and most telephone customers a dime.

Enhanced 911 is a technology that shows fire or police dispatchers the exact location of an emergency call on a video screen, regardless of whether the caller accurately gives the right information. It eliminates wrong street addresses, sound-alike street names, bogus calls and problems from victims who are handicapped by language or physical disability.

The old 911 system used in some communities provided an easy-to-remember number but it often led to more confusion. Towns which shared common telephone exchanges would often have calls sent to the wrong emergency center. The new Enhanced 911 recognizes town boundaries and even the location of public phone booths.

Senate Bill 390, which has already been passed in the state Senate and is awaiting action in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, will provide each participating community with the necessary Enhanced 911 equipment free of charge.

The legislation seeks to pay for this life-saving system by allowing New England Telephone to charge residential customers for excessive use of directory assistance - 411.

Everyone will be allowed 10 free calls each month and only be charged for the 11th and subsequent 411 calls. Businesses have paid for 411 calls for years. All elderly persons along with the blind, deaf and handicapped will receive free, unlimited use of directory assistance.

Telephone company records show that less than 20 percent of the public make more than 10 calls a month, but that group will be able to fund the Enhanced 911 system and a new statewide relay center for the deaf, according to New England Telephone. Any profits goes back to the public in reduced phone rates, according to the legislation.

If you support this exciting program, please write or call our state Representative Susan Tucker today to urge passage of Senate Bill 390.

Who's coming to dinner tomorrow?

full of Coles. Their daughter, Diane, and her husband, Bob Cole, yes that's his name, will visit here from their home in New Jersey. Bob Cole is the son of Al and Jenny Cole, also of Andover, to add to the confusion. So Bob's parents will share Thanksgiving dinner at Ginny and Milt's home, too.

Also in attendance will be Diane and Bob's children, Nathaniel, 13, and Sylvia, 9. Ginny will be the chef for the party of 10, which includes Milt's brother and sister-in-law from Connecticut.

"So there will be 10 people, all named Cole," laughs Ginny.

Jenny Cole will bring pies and Diane Cole, who is a dietitian, will be a big help with the meal, according to her mother. Ginny and Milt have two other daughters, but they live in California and Tennessee, so they won't be here this Thanksgiving.

Selectman Bill Downs and his wife, Bernice "Bunny" Downs, will have a full house this Thanksgiving. Mrs. Downs said their house at 147 Elm St. will be "like Grand Central Station" filled with their three daughters, Cathy, Barbara and Lesley, three sons-in-law and six grandchildren. This year she bought a 20-pound turkey to feed the crew and baked three pies, a pumpkin pie, "of course," an apple pie and "Bill's favorite, a blueberry pie." Cooking for 14 people won't be too difficult, she said, because Bill helps with the bird and the vegetables.

Joan Buschmann of 44 Dascomb Road started out the season by washing the windows. Now all she has to do is cook.

Usually, Mrs. Buschmann and her husband, Ralph, go to her parents' in Lynnfield. But this year the Buschmanns will host a group of 10 (maybe 11, if son Wayne, a student at the University of New Hampshire, brings home a friend from Alaska).

"It should be fun, with all those people crowded around my kitchen table," Mrs. Buschmann said.

This Thanksgiving, Charlotte Smith, director of the Andover Historical Society, will break with her historical traditions and going to Nantucket with her family.

But the Andover Historical Society will be busy Thanksgiving eve with a special reception and tour for an old Andover family. Hanne and Frank Castle, of 14 Orchard St., are hosting a Thanksgiving reunion for three generations of the Castle family.

For Andover School of Montessori Executive Director Tina LaFranchi, of 14 Wabanaki Way, Thanksgiving doesn't mean turkey — it means lobster. Ms. LaFranchi, her husband, Larry, and their three boys — Brian, 12, Alan, 9, and Richard, 6 — have been having lobster for Thanksgiving for years, ever since she read somewhere that the original Pilgrims' Thanksgiving meal was really lobster and fish.

Says Ms. LaFranchi, "It's usually easy to get a good price on lobster around Thanksgiving, and we like it better. But some people think it's pretty strange."

This year they'll have a turkey on hand as well, to satisfy her mother-in-law and her mother-in-law's sister, who are coming to visit from California.

Beverly Henderson, director of public information at Phillips Academy, says her plan is to spend a quiet Thanksgiving at home with husband, Maurice, a manager at AT & T in North Andover, son Maurice, 16, a junior at St. John's Prep, and daughter Leah, 14, a ninth-grader at PA.

"After a whole semester of being dorm parents, we'd like to be home for a few days with just our nuclear family. I'm keeping my fingers crossed ... a couple of times we've made plans to have a small Thanksgiving, but it's expanded at the last minute."

Hailing from Mississippi, Ms. Henderson says her Thanksgiving memories are of her late mother's turkey and cornbread stuffing. "Although we never had very much, my mother always put on a wonderful meal and relatives from all over creation would show up to join the family." Her new tradition is to have the Thanksgiving dinner in the evening, by candlelight. "It's great being able to run around all day." She says her husband's tradition is, "We don't have to travel anywhere."

"I'm going to eat turkey," said Buzz Stapczynski, town manager.

But first he is going to work on a pancake breakfast at the Wilmington High School, a fund raiser for the school's senior class. Pancakes won't be served

Church runs support group for job seekers

The First Presbyterian Church of Haverhill, 346 Broadway (one block south of Route 495, exit 50, Route 97) runs a support group for job seekers. The weekly meetings are held Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m.

Topics include skills assessment, resume development, networking, interview techniques and benefits information. For registration information, call 374-8029 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The group was started by Henry G. Dulin of North Andover, whose job as general manager for an electronics distribution company was eliminated. He'd held the job 16 years and still hasn't found one, although he says he's "one of the fortunate ones" because he's living on six months severance pay.

Who's coming to dinner tomorrow?

(Continued from p. 46) until 7 a.m. but Mr. Stapczynski will be in the kitchen warming up the griddle at 6 a.m.

After that he and his wife, Sandy, and their son, Stephen, will have dinner with her parents.

"And we'll have turkey," Mr. Stapczynski said.

Obituaries are on page 36 in today's townsman.

Russian composer visits Phillips

Russian composer, conductor and pianist Vyacheslav Ovchinnikov will be in open rehearsal with the Phillips Academy Symphony and Chamber orchestras at the academy's Cochran Chapel Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 6 p.m. The orchestras will be preparing their Nov. 30 program. The rehearsal is free of charge and open to the public.

Composer of the original nine-hour soundtrack for the Academy Award-winning Russian film "War and Peace," Mr. Ovchinnikov not only has composed soundtracks for more than 40 films, but has composed music for many other performance areas: lyric opera, ballet, oratorio, symphonies, suites for orchestra, symphonic poems and overtures, sonatinas, chamber music, works for piano and choral music. All told, he has written more than 500 pieces for orchestra and chorus.

His renditions of original and other composers' music have been recorded by studios all over the world. He recently became a member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

In 1945, the 9-year-old Ovchinnikov enrolled in a music school to study the violin. He completed a seven-year music program in five years. During that time, he mastered the piano and composed his own musical works. He moved to Moscow and entered the Tchaikovsky Conservatory School of Music.

Mr. Ovchinnikov began conducting in 1973, when he was invited to conduct the Great Symphony Orchestra of Radio and Television in Moscow to honor the centennial of Rachmaninoff's birth. Since then, Mr. Ovchinnikov has received widespread acclaim for his interpretations of Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff, Mozart, Beethoven, Bach,

Pianist talks about Russia

Vyacheslav Ovchinnikov, a Russian composer, conductor and pianist, will perform Thursday, Nov. 29, at 8 p.m. at Conover Hall in the Dorothy Bell Study Center at Bradford College.

He will play the piano and talk about the Soviet Union. An English interpreter will be present to translate Mr. Ovchinnikov, who was suppressed by the Soviet state before glasnost. A reception will immediately follow the program.

"This is such a special event because it not only brings a prominent artist to Bradford College, but it is a monumental part of the college's internationalization," says Peter Waldron, professor of theater.

"This year we are having several speakers on Soviet society, and it is wonderful to have this outstanding Russian artist," added Dr. Joseph Short, president of the college.

Mr. Ovchinnikov's performance is a part of the Bradford College creative Arts Series. Tickets are $5. Seating is limited. For reservations or additional information, call 872-7161, Ext. 229.

Maureen Woodell as Reno Sweeny and Tom Whately as Billy Crocker sing "You're the Top" in Andover Theatre Company's production of Cole Porter's musical comedy "Anything Goes."

'Anything Goes' goes after weekend

The Andover Theatre Company presented three of five performances of the shipboard musical comedy "Anything Goes" last weekend.

There are only two performances to go. They will be at West Middle School on Shawsheen Road Friday, Nov. 23, and Saturday, Nov. 24, at 8 p.m. Advance purchase of tickets is recommended; last Sunday's matinee performance garnered a 66 percent increase in anticipated audience for the day.

Maureen Woodell is Reno Sweeney, night club entertainer/evangelist. Ms. Woodell, a resident of North Reading, performs professionally throughout Boston and New England.

Andover husband and wife Ben and Alice Pascucci reap many of the show's laughs. He's Moonface Martin, Public Enemy #13. A man striving for his personal best, he's trying desperately to work his way up to at least #6 or #7.

Mrs. Pascucci plays Bonnie, the gangster's moll. She wants to be an angel, and she's sure she knows a short-cut. Bonnie is as amazingly adept at tap dancing as Moonface is inept at everything.

The costumes were designed and handmade by Ryan Woosley, who Ann Lange and Ann Caspar, members of the Andover Garden Club, create batches of "stained-glass" cookies for the garden club's Festival of Trees. The festival, which showcases 28 decorated holiday trees in Old Town Hall, will open Thursday, Nov. 29, with a preview party from 6 to 8 p.m. The town hall will be open for viewing through Sunday, Dec. 2. Ms. Lange and Sue Daly are co-chairwomen of the festival.

U Lowell sets stage for 'Messiah'

The Worcester Chorus and Orchestra will perform Handel's "Messiah" by Saturday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m. at the University of Lowell Center for the Arts.

Originally scheduled for Lowell Memorial Auditorium, the performance will now take place in Durgin Hall at the University of Lowell. The Worcester Chorus is one of the oldest civic choral groups in the country, dating back to 1858. The chorus was formed as the Festival Chorus to sing in the Worcester Music Festival. Their performance of Handel's "Messiah" at Worcester's Mechanics Hall has been an annual event for 89 years.

Among the featured soloists will be mezzo-soprano Melissa Thorburn, first-prize winner of the Metropolitan Opera New England Regional Auditions.

Tickets are priced at $13, $11 and $9 with discounts for groups, students and seniors.

Durgin Hall is at the corner of Pawtucket and Wilder streets in Lowell.

'Anything Goes' goes after weekend

Tom Whateley has performed professionally throughout the country, including a stint as an opera singer with Busch Gardens in Williamsburg, Va. He commutes from Marblehead to star as Billy Crocker. Cathy DeBurro travels from Salem, N.H., to be Hope Harcourt.

The tap-dancing/singing cast is under the direction of Deborah Parks of North Reading and choreographed by Joseph Cacciola of Wakefield. Mark Flegg is the music director who works with Cole Porter's memorable songs, like "You're

Andover resident plays classical guitar in Northern Essex concert

Classical guitarist Sami Bati will perform a concert at Northern Essex Community College on Sunday, Dec. 2, at 2 p.m. Sponsored by the Northern Essex Community College Foundation, the concert will include his own works and others by Albeniz, Malats, Ponce, Pujol, Villa-Lobos and Tarrega.

A native of Turkey, Mr. Bati grew up in Damascus, Syria. At the age of 13, he began studying the flamenco guitar, and a year later guitar in the European and Russian tradition.

He moved to Russia in 1974 to study medicine at the Rostov Medical Institute in Rostov. He continued to perform classical guitar and in 1980 established the Rostov Classical Guitar Club.

After receiving his medical degree in ophthalmology in 1984, Mr. Bati returned to Syria. He came to this country in 1989 and has been studying for his medical certification in the United States.

A resident of Andover, Mr. Bati has performed more than 290 concerts in Russia, the Ukraine, Latvia, Lithuania, Georgia, Armenia, Germany and Syria. He has taught flamenco and classical guitar at Northern Essex Community College.

His concert will be held in the Northern Essex Community College Gallery in the library on the college's Haverhill campus just off Exit 52 on Route 495.

Admission is free.

For more information, contact the Northern Essex public information office at 374-3863.

Classical guitarist Sami Bati will perform a free concert at Northern Essex Community College on Sunday, Dec. 2, at 2 p.m. His concert will include works the Andover resident composed himself.

AHS Warriors stomp on Scarlet Knights

By Rick Harrison

Showing as much emotion as it has all season, and displaying an impressively diversified offense engineered by quarterback Matt Perry, the Andover High football team ran on adrenalin early and then survived a late scare en route to a 28-12 triumph over North Andover at Alvah G. Hayes Stadium.

Perry enjoyed his most productive individual game of the season, scoring the final Golden Warriors' touchdown after passing for three TDs and completing 11-of-16 aeriels for 148 yards.

In what may be the last game of this series, the senior signalcaller threw to six different receivers and now has completed 82-of-120 passes this fall.

He fired a pair of scoring aeriels to senior end Chris Davis, one to junior flanker Jim Landry, and also picked out favorite target Brett Hammond (4-39, one conversion), Dave Blank, Mark Dodge and junior Mike Pettoruto. Hammond's receptions gave him 52 for the year.

The 164-yard ground game featured six different ballcarriers, Blank leading the way as usual with 102 hard-earned tackle-to-tackle yards on 16 carries. Blank now has 842 yards for the season and needs 158 tomorrow morning to reach 1,000.

The victory was the sixth straight for Coach Dick Collins' club, now 7-2-0 overall and tied for second place in the Merrimack Valley Conference with Central Catholic heading into their traditional Thanksgiving Day showdown tomorrow morning at Lovely Field.

Kickoff is 10 a.m.

North Andover, 6-3-0 and losers each of the last three years against Andover, also felt the sting and the wrath of the rugged AHS defense.

Except for a brief fourth-quarter lapse that made things interesting, the Warriors were in complete control.

Senior tackle Joe Marinaro and junior linebacker Ryan Kelly were especially nasty, Marinaro credited with 16 tackles (four unassisted) and Kelly 14 stops (three solo).

McNamara and Milmoe overlooked

By Rick Harrison

The Townsman owes an apology to Andover High girls' swim team divers Melissa McNamara and Anne Milmoe, both of whom were inadvertently overlooked in recent stories about the Eastern Mass. North Sectional Championship Meet.

Both are outstanding one-meter divers who were victims of the overall excellence and depth the Lady Warriors had in that event this season.

McNamara, a junior, and Milmoe, a sophomore, both performed well in regular season meets and qualified for the Sectionals.

Andover, however, qualified six divers for the Meet as McNamara and Milmoe were joined by Kasie Kearins, Amanda Schaake, Sarah Faracl and Jill Ippolito.

All scored 140 or more points the required three times.

Sectional Meet rules dictate that each team can only enter four divers, not six, and that left McNamara and Milmoe on the sidelines.

We failed to note in meet reports that both girls, who would be the No. 1 diver on several other teams in the area, had made the grade but were unable to compete because of a technicality.

We regret the oversight and acknowledge the talent and accomplishments of Melissa and Anne.

Melissa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McNamara, 4 Wescott Road, and Anne the daughter of Cornelius and Alexandra Milmoe, 1 Landau Lane.

Biggest race ever in Merrimack Valley Feaster Five road race is tomorrow morning

By Don Staruk

At least 137 Andover residents will be among the estimated 2,000 runners expected to participate in tomorrow morning's Feaster Five road race downtown, the biggest race ever in the Merrimack Valley, according to race organizers.

"I think it's the biggest ever," said Bill Pennington, of 46 Clark Road, the race coordinator.

The five-mile Feaster Five begins at 8:30 a.m. Thanksgiving morning in front of the town offices on Bartlett Street.

The course goes out Chestnut Street onto Highland Road, to Woodland Road, Salem Street, Stinson Road, Holt Road, back onto Salem Street, right on Route 28 to Wheeler Avenue then back down Bartlett Street to finish at The Park.

As of Monday, 1,450 runners had registered and Mr. Pennington said the forecast for perfect running weather on Thursday would probably bring the total close to 2,000.

"We have 2,000 numbers and we anticipate 2,000," he said.

Last year over 400 runners showed up and ran the race at the height of a blizzard which dumped six inches of snow in town on the holiday.

The largest race in the area to date has been the annual Yankee Homecoming race in Newburyport which attracted approximately 1,600 runners this year, according to organizers.

The events will kick off Wednesday evening with an expo and runner's clinic from 5:30 - 7:30 in the Old Town Hall. Runners are asked to pick up their numbers during the clinic or before hand at A. J. Sports in Shaw-shen Plaza.

Along with prizes to the top finishers, 1,000 apple pies will be given to the slowest 1,000 entrants.

Proceeds of the five-mile road race will benefit the Special Olympics and Merrimack Valley Striders Youth Track.

Organizers are hoping spectators will come out and enjoy the race.

Who to watch

Paul Hammond, 30, of Wilmington, wearing no. 717, is favored to win overall, according to Mr. Pennington. Mr. Hammond face a challenge from Kevin Retelle, 34, of Methuen and formerly of Reservation Road in Andover. Mr. Retelle will be wearing no. 789.

The favored woman is Peg Donovan, 36, of Auburn, wearing no. 1329.

"She'll probably win," said Mr. Pennington.

Nancy Corsaro, 32, of Methuen, wearing no. 498, is last year's winner and will defend her title this year.

"She's coming back from an injury. She is, on paper, as the fastest woman we have. She made the olympic trials in 1988 in the marathon," Mr. Pennington said.

Michelle Murry, 23, of Peabody, whose race number was not available, is "the dark horse" to watch in the women's race, according to Mr. Pennington.

Bernie Allen, 44, of Wayland, no number available, is favored in the men's master's category and Margot Oman, 43, of 100 High Plain Road is the favored women's master. Ms. Oman won the master's division of the race for cancer at Phillips Academy The youngest Andover resident competing is 11-year-old Benjamin Perrault, of 3 Middle St., no. 773. The oldest resident taking part is Frederick S. Connors, 61, of 270 Andover St., no. 44.

Another pair to watch for is George and Priscilla Caldwell, of Littleton, who at 69 and 71 respectively, are the oldest runners preregistered for the race.

AHS and Central Catholic kickoff at 10 a.m. tomorrow

By Rick Harrison

If there was an out-of-town scoreboard at Lovely Field, it's a sure bet one eye of every Andover High and Central Catholic football player would be glued on it tomorrow morning when the two Merrimack Valley Conference powers collide in their traditional Thanksgiving Day game.

The winner earns undisputed possession of second place in the league, but the pot could be sweetened considerably if Wilmington pulls a major upset by beating Tewksbury. A Redmen loss creates MVC co-champs.

Kickoff at Andover High is 10 a.m.

Both teams enter with 7-2-0 records, AHS riding a six-game victory streak and defending MVC champ CCHS winner of four straight, six of its last seven and 19 of its last 21.

"You could throw a blanket over these two teams," said Andover Head Coach Dick Collins. "On paper this is as even as a game can get."

"Central is one of the few teams that matches up with us favorably. We have the same record, and we both lost to the same two teams (Tewksbury and Chelmsford). The only difference is they gave Tewksbury a much better game than we did, and we gave Chelmsford a tougher game than they did."

Last year's game is probably still fresh in the mind of many AHS players.

There was even more on the line, the winner qualifying for the Eastern Mass. Division 2 Super Bowl. Central needed the victory to clinch its first-ever MVC title outright, as well, while Andover was going for a share of the crown.

Controversy

The game ended in controversy, Central winning 16-14 on a last-minute field goal by Glenn Lacroix that was signalled good by one official after a long delay.

"Last year's game will serve as an incentive," said Collins. "But the other side of that coin is our kids know we played an outstanding game and just didn't get the final break. We certainly have no animosity towards Central/Central. If the kick had been called no good you can bet we'd have been jumping all over the field, too. "If anything that game gave the rivalry a big boost."

The Red Raiders, although entering this game as the underdog most years, have pulled off several upsets and hold a 6-3-0 series' edge over Andover since 1980.

CCHS has won three straight, including 27-14 in 1988 and 7-0 in '87.

The last Andover triumph came in 1986 by a 14-6 score, while the '85 game was never contested (Continued on page 55)

Junior tackle Erik Greenstein (10 tackles), cornerback Blank (nine tackles, two unassisted), linebacker Will Lowry, Stefan Fodor, Todd Allard, Jeff Hurley, Matt Perry, Hammond and Davis also made their presence felt.

Blank and Perry had interceptions, Marinaro three tackles for loss, Davis two quarterback sacks with assistance from Allard and Lowry, and Blank one tackle for loss.

The defense limited the Scarlet Knights to no first downs and -2 yards total offense in the first quarter. North Andover managed just three first downs and eight yards rushing in the first half, as Andover walked off the field with a commanding 21-0 lead.

"There was no question we out-manned them," said Collins. "I knew we were bigger and stronger and planned to take advantage of that. We really played well from beginning to end. There was no serious letup on our part, even when North Andover made its late run.

"A lot of teams would have rolled over in the second half, after what they'd been through, but North Andover didn't. They took advantage of a couple breaks and got themselves back in the game.

"But, after they did, it was significant that we came back very, very strong with a great touchdown drive," said Collins. "That was a perfect indication of the kind of game we played.

"Marinaro played an awesome game both ways, and Greenstein played his best game of the season."

Powerful stuff

With close to 1,700 fans jamming the small stands and ringing the field twice around, the Warriors quickly silenced the North Andover partisans who had hung more than a dozen signs of all shapes and sizes bearing messages like: "Pay-Back Time" and "Give 'Em Knightmares."

The payback referred to last year, when a game that was supposed to be close turned into a 41-0 Andover rout.

This one threatened to go the same route when the entire first period was played in NA territory, the Warriors putting together two strikingly similar seven-play, 40-yard touchdown drives following punts by Rob Gomez.

The opening series was keyed by a 24-yard power blast up the middle by Blank, and the payoff came when Matt Perry rolled right and zipped a perfect 10-yard strike to Jim Landry in the end zone.

Brett Hammond toed the first of his two conversions for a 7-0 lead just 4:26 into the contest.

After three downs and a punt for the second time by North Andover, Blank again stepped front and center with consecutive runs of seven, one and 12 yards.

Marinaro, Greenstein, senior center Ryan Beal and guard Mark Avery kept opening huge, gaping holes in the line, as Perry ran nine yards to the 11 and Blank followed a NA offside penalty with a two-yard run.

Blank had a subsequent five-yard touchdown run erased by a holding penalty, but on the next play Perry found an embarrassingly wide-open Chris Davis alone in the end zone for a 15-yard TD pass.

Hammond's kick was waved wide left, but with 1:03 remaining in the period the Warriors looked golden with a 13-0 lead.

Early in the second quarter the Scarlet Knights finally penetrated Andover real estate, but surrendered on downs at the 38 after QB Jim Cavanaugh (9-19-2, 141 yards) overthrew receiver Ben Nassar at the AHS 15 on fourth down.

The Golden Warriors needed just four plays to travel 62 yards for their third touchdown, the big gainer a textbook 46-yard pass from Perry to Landry who caught the ball in stride over his left shoulder.

Perry rolled right and again picked out Davis for an 18-yard TD pass, and when Hammond snatched a two-point conversion aerial the lead had swelled to 21-0.

"North Andover was doubling up on Hammond," explained Collins, "and that's what left Davis and Landry open so often."

The winners threatened twice more in the final five minutes without connecting.

A 24-yard Perry-to-Hammond pass, which featured a nice tackle-breaking run by the 205-pound receiver, advanced the ball to the Knights' 24 yard line. But Todd Dulin came up with a questionable diving interception at the NA four to halt this bid.

Two plays later Dave Blank returned the favor, picking off a Cavanaugh pass in traffic at the North Andover 21 and returning the ball to the six.

Perry zipped a four-yard scoring bullet to Hammond three plays later, but the touchdown was called back by another holding penalty.

After hearing the call Hammond obligingly picked the officials' yellow flag off the turf and handed it, along with the football, back to the man in the striped shirt who cost him six points.

A third-down aerial to Mark Dodge brought the ball back to the seven, but defensive tackle Gerry Moscaritolo batted away a fourth-down Perry toss intended for either Landry or Hammond who were both in the same area.

Knights fight

The third period of this sometimes-chippy game was scoreless, North Andover having the ball just once for three plays that netted six yards.

The Warriors consumed most of the quarter on an unrewarded 11-play march from their own 27 yard line to the NA 36.

Blank carried three times for 27 yards, Landry and Dodge clicked off eight-yard gains, and Perry hit Hammond with a 10-yard aerial.

But three penalties stalled the drive, which ended on the first play of the fourth period when Paul Kreder tipped a Perry pass to teammate Billy Ventura who returned the interception 44 yards from the NA 26 to the Andover 30.

The Scarlet Knights used 13 plays and five minutes of clock time before notching their first touchdown with 4:42 to play.

Cavanaugh converted one fourth down on a QB sneak, and a roughing-the-passer personal foul kept the drive alive after a fourth-down pass from the Andover eight fell incomplete.

It still took NA four plays from the four yard line, the goal line stand almost successful after clutch plays by Joe Marinaro, Ryan Kelly, Erik Greenstein, Mark Avery and Will Lowry.

Rob Gomez squirted through from one yard out on fourth down, but the two-point conversion try almost cost the Knights when Perry picked off the pass and returned it to midfield before being hauled down.

Gomez then successfully executed an onside kick, Mark Bailey pouncing on the bouncing ball at the Andover 47 yard line.

Cavanaugh detonated a 34-yard bomb to Dan Fujimoto, and two plays later a well-executed draw play saw Gomez sprint 13 yards for NA's second score.

When this conversion pass also failed it pretty much doomed North Andover, which at 21-12 was still more than one touchdown and conversion behind.

"If they had made one of the conversions it could have been a much different finish," conceded Collins. "It wasn't as if we played poorly when they scored. They were simply doing some very nice things out there. They had the guts to keep fighting."

The plucky Scarlet Knights tried another onside kick, and almost pulled it off again before Andover junior Mike Glaimo fell on the ball at the 50 yard line with 3:30 to play.

Blank immediately tore off a 13-yard run, junior Dan Feeley added 16 yards, Perry seven on a rollout right, and Perry 12 more to the one yard line on a rollout left.

Perry went behind Ryan Beal on the quarterback sneak for his third TD of the season, and Hammond's educated toe (18th PAT) made it 28-12 with 1:14 left.

After Hammond's kickoff, Cavanaugh fired complete passes to Todd Dulin (six yards), Eric Domek (nine yards) and Gomez (21 yards).

But Chris Davis, Todd Allard and Will Lowry broke through twice to sack the Knights' QB for nine and seven yard losses.

North Andover's last gasp came with less than 10 seconds to play, a 25-yard Cavanaugh aerial to Gomez falling one yard shy of a first down at the Golden Warriors' 35.

Statistics

Andover finished with advantages in first downs (16-9), yards rushing (164-23), yards passing (148-141), total yardage from scrimmage (312-164) and scrimmage plays (56-55).

Sophomore Steve Shepard punted once for 34 yards.

Andover now leads the series 3-1-0 since its renewal.

Neither team fumbled in the game.

Perry finished with 22 yards rushing, Mark Dodge 21, Dan Feeley 16 and Jim Landry 10.

A large contingent of Andover fans formed a motorcade at the high school and proceeded up Elm Street and Rte. 125 to the North Andover Middle School.

Yacht restorer to speak at East India Marine Assoc. recognition dinner

The woman known for her restoration of the legendary racing yacht Endeavor will be the featured speaker at the annual East India Marine Associates recognition dinner at the Peabody Museum of Salem on Friday, Nov. 30. Elizabeth Meyer is a familiar figure to North Shore yachting enthusiasts after her 1990 tour which brought her J Class America's Cup Challengers to Boston and Marblehead. Her lecture will include film of her most recent tour.

The J Class sloops were built in the 1930s, and at 130-foot long with 165-foot tall masts, were and still are the largest yachts designed to the Universal Rule. They were considered to be the most technologically advanced racing boats of their time. The Endeavor and her tour competitor, Shamrock V were entered in the America's Cup races in the '30s, but since then each had a wide variety of owners. At one point, the Endeavor belonged to a shipbreaker who nearly scrapped her. Raised from the bottom of a river by two "hippie dreamers," the vessel eventually wound up with Ms. Meyer, who pulled together the funds for a $10 million dollar refit in Holland, readying her to challenge her old rival once again.

AHS and Central Catholic kickoff tomorrow morning

Central won 13-6 in '84, Andover 16-15 in '83, Central 12-7 in '82 and Central 12-7 in '81.

"Thanksgiving can be the great equalizer," said Collins. "But this year the game's a tossup."

Andover was the pre-season pick of many to win the league title this fall, but the Golden Warriors got off to a rocky start.

The huge line, averaging close to 240 pounds per man, tired in humid weather and ran out of gas in an opening 16-12 loss to Chelmsford and 31-6 third-week stunner against Tewksbury.

Andover was also without top two-way backs Dave Blank and Mark Dodge for the Redmen tilt.

As the temperatures cooled the Warriors heated up, dominating their last six foes while outscoring them 159-36.

190) the fullback.

Hammond leads the Golden Warriors' scoring parade with eight touchdowns, all on pass receptions, and 20 extra points (including 18 PAT kicks) for 68 points. He also has caught 52 passes.

Dave Blank has 54 points and 842 yards rushing, needing 158 yards against Central to reach the coveted 1,000 plateau despite missing the Tewksbury game.

Perry has 18 points, Jim Landry 14 and Chris Davis 12.

Perry has thrown 11 touchdown passes, three of them in last weekend's 28-12 triumph over North Andover, and completed 82-of-120 passes (69 per cent).

Andover has outscored its opponents, 191-89, and the defense owns two shutouts.

Andover connection

Central's line is bulwarked by a pair of Andover residents, brothers Sean and Brendan Finneran.

Sean is a senior 6'2", 250-pound co-captain, two-way tackle and potential All-Scholastic, while "little brother" Brendan is a sophomore 6'0", 210-pound offensive guard-defensive tackle.

The Red Raiders' top gun is Kevin Labrecque, a 6'1", 185-pound junior halfback whose 200-yard, 24-point outburst against Lowell early in the season keyed a campaign that now includes 54 points and close to 800 yards.

Senior quarterback and Co-Capt. Matt Shaheen (5'9", 176) has 38 points and three TD passes, junior halfback Mike Lumia (5'7", 175) 24 points, junior place-kicker Jon O'Sullivan 15 points on 12 conversions and one field goal, and Joe Rynne 12 points. CCHS has outscored the opposition, 173-92, and the defense has a pair of shutouts.

Central victories have come at the expense of Dracut (20-7), Lowell (25-16), Catholic Memorial (21-6), Wilmington (20-6), Methuen (21-0), Haverhill (17-13) and Lawrence High (26-0).

"Sean Finneran is definitely the best player they have," said Collins. "He's sure to be an All-Scholastic. (Senior guard Dave) Castillo (5'10", 175) is also an excellent lineman."

"Labrecque may be the best athlete in the Merrimack Valley," continued Collins. "You'd be hard-pressed to find one better. He does everything for their track team. He has size and great speed. He absolutely killed Lowell with a spectacular individual performance."

"All their running backs are good, including Lumia and Rynne, and Shaheen is a very underrated quarterback."

Donovan plays hockey

Steve Donovan of Andover, a senior member of the Nichols College hockey team, scored on a short-handed goal from one of his captains in a home game against New Hampshire College Nov. 12.

The Bison put up a good fight, but sustained a loss (6-3) in the second game of the season.

AHS swimmers finish season, swim well at All-States meet

By Rick Harrison

Senior tri-captain Kristen Hubbell wrapped up an outstanding 1990 swim season, and also completed a memorable high school career at Andover, by placing fourth in the 100-yard backstroke at last Saturday's All-State Interscholastic Swimming and Diving Championship Meet at Northeastern University.

Intense competitor Hubbell's performance highlighted an otherwise tough day at the All-States for the AHS girls who qualified, most of whose times were a shade slower than those registered at the Eastern Mass. North Sectional Meet a week earlier.

The 200 medley relay foursome of Hubbell, junior Michelle McCarthy, sophomore Chrissy DerAnanian and junior Jill Ippolito was the only other State Meet placewinner, taking 12th with a 2:04.36 clocking.

In her specialty, the 100 back, Hubbell touched in 1:04.02 which was just over two seconds behind event winner Britt Greineder of three-time state team champion Wellesley High.

Greineder, a double winner who also captured the 100 butterfly in a spectacular individual effort, finished the 100 back in 1:01.57.

Hubbell barely missed qualifying for the finals in the 100 freestyle race, placing 13th in the trials in 57.08. That earned her the first alternate's spot, but no one was injured or disqualified as each of the top 12 girls competed in the finals.

Other regular-season, MVC Championship Meet and North Sectional Meet individual standouts who competed in the All-States were junior one-meter diver Kasie Kearins and 100 breaststroker Michelle McCarthy.

They were also joined by the 200 freestyle relay quartet of tri-captain Allyson Bates, tri-captain Eliza Tilghman, freshman Mandy Wilson, Jill Ippolito and the 400 freestyle team of McCarthy, Hubbell, DerAnanian and Wilson.

Each of those AHS standouts, who worked hard and excelled to qualify for the All-State Meet, did not advance to the finals.

Wellesley won an unprecedented third straight team title with 186 points, easily outdistancing runner-up Acton-Boxboro which finished with 145. Lowell was a surprising third at 132.

Oaks 2 - Palms 2

In this last game of the fall season, the Oaks and the Palms played an excellent, evenly matched game in a cold rain. The Oaks Beth Harbooted in an unassisted goal just over the goalie's head in the second quarter. Caroline Torrisi answered with a goal for the Palms in the third quarter. Nicole Ducey put the Oaks ahead in the fourth, scoring on a feed from Erika Buschmann, but the lead was eliminated by another goal from Caroline Torrisi, assisted by Michelle Langone, ending the game in a 2-2 tie.

Booster of the week: Nancy McKain, Julie Scott, Michelle Lord (Oaks); the entire Palms team.

Italy 5 - Peru 2

In the only game of the rain abbreviated last day's soccer schedule, Italy defeated Peru 5-2. Scoring for Italy were Piercarlo Valdesolo (2), David Maragioglio (2), and Michael Auliero with assists from Craig Powers, Piercarlo Valdesolo and David Maragioglio (2). Willie Olney and Zack Traynor scored Peru's goals.

BOW: Mark Herling, Stephen Dietz and David Constantine (Italy); the entire Peru team.

Hokey Pokes 2

Cha Chas 0

The undefeated Cha Chas played another great game but were unable to effectively counter the positional play and sharp goaltending of the Hokey Pokes and lost 2-0. The first goal came halfway through the second quarter when wing Liz Tung made a nice pass to Alexis Contos who kicked it into the goal. Tight play continued for the remainder of the game with both teams having several good scoring chances. The final goal was set up when Lindsay Marquis dribbled the ball down the wing and made a perfect centering pass to Alexis Contos who booted it into the corner of the net.

BOW: Mary Ardini, Kerry O'Connor and Lauren Skelthaudt (Cha Chas); Betsy Demus, Ashley Crowther and Robin Karfunkel (Hokey Pokes).

Andover residents help Governor Dummer accomplish successful season

By Rick Harrison

Billy Batchelder of Andover wrapped up his prep school football career in style last weekend, throwing for 286 yards and three touchdowns to ignite Governor Dummer Academy to a come-from-behind 40-20 victory over Berkshire Academy in their New England Class B Prep School championship playoff game at the neutral St. Mark's School field in Southborough.

Batchelder, the senior quarterback with the rifle arm, completed 24-of-37 passes to finish the season with 2,038 yards and 20 touchdown passes in eight games. He completed 151-of-258 passes this year, a fine 59.8 completion percentage.

For his two-year, 15-game varsity career, Batchelder had 32 touchdown passes and 3,358 yards.

The Governors were 12-2-1 with Batchelder at the helm, including 7-1-0 this fall en route to the New England Prep title and a third share of the Independent School League East championship.

Other Andover residents that played an important role in GDA's outstanding season, and the big win last weekend, were defensive end Jason Benedict, sophomore linebacker John Shea, two-way tackle Mike Holbrook and senior backup quarterback Dave Corbett.

Corbett, an outstanding tennis player, received his baptism under fire in the second half when Batchelder was sidelined briefly with an ankle injury.

On the other side of the ball was Andover's Curt Soloman, a post-graduate student at Berkshire who helped his team to a fine 7-2-0 record this year. Soloman was an outstanding defensive player and reserve running back at Andover High last fall.

Batchelder also threw for a pair of two-point conversions against Berkshire, rushed a conversion himself, gained 22 yards on four carries and kicked an extra point.

"Our kids were a little nervous and we started slowly," said Governors' Head Coach Paul Sullivan, whose team ultimately outscored Berkshire 37-7 over the middle two quarters. "There were a few dropped passes early and we had trouble moving the ball."

Berkshire took a 7-0 first-quarter lead, and almost made it 13-0 when a Batchelder pass was intercepted and returned all the way for an apparent score. A personal foul penalty against Berkshire nullified the TD, however.

Berkshire subsequently fumbled on the GDA 10 yard line, and Batchelder engineered a 90-yard TD drive before kicking the extra point to tie it, 7-7.

Berkshire regained a 14-7 lead, but the Governors struck twice more before the half was over to carry a 21-14 advantage into the locker room.

"We dominated the second half," said Sullivan. "We held the ball for long periods of time on three sustained marches, scoring twice in the third quarter and then kicking a field goal in the fourth."

"Billy threw conversion passes after the two touchdowns, but we had another player kick the field goal because of his ankle injury. Dave Corbett took a few snaps right after Billy got hurt, and then he (Batchelder) returned to throw a gorgeous across-the-field pass that hit the receiver in stride at the Berkshire two yard line."

Governor Dummer held the ball for 73 offensive plays, and complemented Batchelder's passing game with over 100 yards rushing. Nick Tibbetts of Scituate was the champs' top ground gainer with 95 yards in 22 carries.

Freshman gridders capture second MVC championship while setting 11 new team and nine individual records

By Rick Harrison

Setting 11 new team records and nine individual marks, the powerful Andover freshman football team broke free in the second half en route to a season-ending 32-16 Merrimack Valley Conference triumph over the Central Catholic frosh at Eugene V. Lovely Field.

The victory was the 22nd straight over a three-year stretch for Coach Ken Pellerin and assistant Bill Hart's squad, enabling them to complete a second consecutive undefeated season and capture a second straight undisputed MVC championship.

Andover finished 9-0-0 overall and 8-0-0 in the league.

Five different players scored touchdowns for the locals, who led just 18-16 at halftime before throwing a defensive blanket over CCHS and notching two insurance scores in the second half.

Central Catholic placed second in the conference and closed with a 6-2-1 overall ledger.

The biggest individual accomplishment was Matt Wolcott's season total of 1,153 yards rushing. He became the first Andover ninth grader ever to reach the 1,000 yard plateau, capping the campaign with 188 yards in just 10 carries against Central.

Tailback Paul Allard also had another big afternoon, scoring one touchdown, passing for another and firing four option passes to Gene Doran for an impressive 176 yards.

Toby Guzowski and Andy Shulman contributed one touchdown apiece, and quarterback Jeff Brammer threw for one TD.

Andover piled up an incredible 648 yards total offense, including 297 rushing in 27 carries, 307 passing on 12 completions, and 44 on punt, kickoff and interception returns.

Warriors tested

The young Warriors were challenged for one of the few times this year, a pair of quick second-quarter scores by Central making it interesting for awhile.

Andover threatened to blow the visitors out in the first quarter, scoring a pair of touchdowns on their first two possessions.

Linebacker Kurt Kozat set up the initial TD with a fumble recovery at the CCHS 15 yard line, and Allard raced 15 yards on the first play for a swift 6-0 lead. The conversion rush was stacked up short.

Central took the ensuing kickoff, ran seven plays, and punted to Andover which proceeded to march 80 yards in seven plays for its second tally.

Brammer tossed a 12-yard pass to Doran, Allard was on the receiving end of a 13-yard screen pass and a 10-yard aerial, Wolcott ripped off six yards on the ground, and the payoff was a 39-yard option pass from Allard to Doran.

It was Allard's third touchdown toss of the season and Doran's fifth TD reception.

This time the pass for the points fell incomplete, keeping the young Warriors' lead at 12-0.

Early in the second stanza Central drove 60 yards in three plays, rushed the conversion, and trimmed the Andover lead to 12-8.

Andover retaliated immediately with a 69-yard drive, the key plays a 35-yard jaunt by Wolcott and 18-yard pass from Brammer to Allard.

Toby Guzowski's record-setting seventh touchdown reception, a five-yarder from Jeff Brammer, hiked the lead to 18-8 with just 17 seconds left in the half.

Central made the most of those 17 seconds, however, scoring its final TD with two long pass plays following the deliberately short kickoff.

The Red Raiders again added the conversion, and the rivals went to the locker room with Andover clinging to an 18-16 lead and momentum on Central's side.

"We marched up and down the field the whole first half, but only led by two points because they scored twice in five plays," said Pellerin. "I was a little apprehensive before the game, figuring our streak had to end sooner or later, and those first two periods didn't help any."

"But we fixed the defense at halftime and held them without a first down in the second half," added the coach.

Andover gained some breathing room with an impressive 87-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter.

Two plays did the bulk of the damage, Allard and Doran hooking up on a 53-yard pass-and-run before Wolcott raced 33 yards to paydirt.

Brammer pitched the conversion pass to Allard and the lead was a more comfortable 26-16.

Andy Shulman, who abandoned karate long enough to finish the football season, notched his second touchdown of the year on a five-yard fourth-quarter run.

In this final trek Allard unloaded a 42-yard pass to Doran, while Wolcott carried twice for 22 and 18 yards.

Allard appeared to drill the conversion kick through the uprights, but the officials saw it differently and waved the kick wide for the 32-16 score.

Game statistics

Following Wolcott in the rushing department against Central were Allard with 31 on five carries, Kurt Kozat 31 on three lugs and Shulman 28 on four totes.

Jeff Brammer was 8-for-12 passing for 131 yards and one touchdown, while Paul Allard went 4-for-4 for 176 yards and one TD.

Doran caught four passes for 176 yards, Allard four for 85 yards and Guzowski three for 43.

Season statistics

Matt Wolcott led the freshman scoring parade with 70 points, Toby Guzowski had 56, Paul Allard 49, Gene Doran 30 and Kurt Kozat 24.

Allard became the third leading all-time rusher with 604 yards in 53 carries (11.4 average), trailing Wolcott's

1,153 in 58 rushes (20.0) and former player Rick Lafond's 863 yards in 98 carries.

Fourth on the list is current varsity senior fullback Mark Dodge (1987), whom Allard surpassed last week.

Brammer, who placed second to 1989 quarterback Alan Guibord in virtually every category, completed 45-of-73 passes (62 per cent) for 799 yards, nine touchdowns and seven two-point conversions. Brammer was intercepted just three times and sacked four times.

Allard was 8-for-10 through the air (80 per cent) for 235 yards and three touchdowns.

Allard was also the top receiver, second all-time in yardage to 1989 graduate Steve Shepard, with 20 catches for 433 yards.

Gene Doran had a fabulous 32.8 average per reception, catching 11 passes for 361 yards and five touchdowns, while Toby Guzowski caught 12 passes for 256 yards and seven TDs.

Recordbreakers

Toby Guzowski established three individual freshman records this fall for blocked punts (2), batted passes (7) and touchdown receptions (7).

Matt Wolcott set three marks for yards rushing (1,153), average per rush (20.0) and conversion points by pass (8).

Paul Allard set records for PAT kicks (3), pass receptions (20) and average yards gained per pass completion (33.6).

Defensive tackle-offensive guard Phil Smith's seven fumble recoveries are a new mark, while Jeff Brammer's 45 pass completions tie Alan Guibord's one-year-old record.

Brammer also finished second to Guibord in yards passing (799), touchdown passes (9) and pass attempts (73), while Allard is runner-up to Steve Shepard in receiving yards (433), returns (15) and return yardage (392).

New team records are for most victories (9), most points scored (270), most

Lawrence Savings Bank supports Neighbors In Need, Lazarus House

Lawrence Savings Bank is hoping to collect more food and paper products for people-in-need this year than ever before. The bank is serving as a collection center for Neighbors In Need and Lazarus House. Friends, customers and employees of the bank can drop off baby food and formula, canned vegetables, fruit, pasta and juice, cereals, dry pasta and paper products.

Linda Edwards, vice president at Lawrence Savings Bank, said, "I'm confident that we will beat last year's collections. This difficult economy has brought more people together to help those less fortunate. I have seen this in our own company during our fundraising efforts for the United Fund."

Neighbors in Need Inc. provides basic food items to people in need. Food collected is sent to a central warehouse, then distributed daily to the local food pantries.

Lazarus House Ministries provides shelter and assistance to the homeless and poor. Lazarus House sleeps 38 people, provides meals and clothing to the destitute and has a program to find homes, jobs and health care for the homeless.

yards rushing (2,216), average gain per rush (12.0), passes attempted (93), pass completion percentage (59), total completions (55), first downs (122), return yards (581), fumble recoveries (24) and fewest punts (2).

The 1,111 yards passing is second only to last year's team.

All records are for games since 1984 when Pellerin took over as head coach from current athletic director Jim Hurley.

Three of this year's standouts, Matt Wolcott, Paul Allard and Toby Guzowski, were also members of the 1988 Andover National Little League All-Star baseball team that won district, bi-district, state and regional championships en route to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

Joseph Licata, of Andover, was recently named to the Bridgewater State College football team. He is playing at the full back position for the Bears. Joseph is a freshman at the college and is pursuing a career in management. A graduate of Andover High School, he is the son of Frank and Kathleen Licata.

Lisa Berberian, of Andover, is a member of Plymouth State's women's soccer team, the Panthers. She is a defender for first-year head coach Nancy Felman's Panthers. Lisa is a 1990 graduate of Andover High School and the daughter of Gerard and Janet Berberian.

Many Andover residents participate in Pingree School's athletic programs

Several Andover residents who are studying at The Pingree School in South Hamilton, Mass. participated in the fall sports program.

Scott Halecki, a junior, and Eric Burt, a freshman, were members of the cross-country team.

The varsity girls' soccer team included Heather Bryce, a senior, co-captain and forward; Suzanne O'Brien, a senior and forward; Jennifer Rosman, a senior and forward; and Marisa Albano, a freshman who played mid-field.

Members of the boys' varsity soccer team included Steve Mollineaux, a senior, stopper/sweeper; Jamie Capeless, a junior, fullback; and Mike DeStefano, a junior who played halfback.

Athletic association. Mr. Newall succeeds Mr. Butterworth of Lawrence who has accepted a position in Philadelphia.

The question of enlarging the federal powers was discussed pro and con by Middlebury college students in a debate last Saturday. Miss Ruth Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Hardy, represented the negative side.

The local 4-H Club leaders held their annual meeting at the Essex County Agricultural school last week. Mrs. G. Richard Abbott was re-elected president and will also serve on the board.

Mrs. Robert A. Cushman has been enjoying a visit in New York City.

Mrs. E. Y. Hincks, a long-time and well-known resident of Andover, has sold her house in Cambridge and has recently gone with her daughter, Sarah, by motor to Arizona. For the winter months they have taken a small house on the edge of the desert.

Mr. and Mrs. John Guild of Lowell street have been visiting their son, John of Buffalo, N.Y., where they attended the dedication exercises of a new airplane factory to be erected in Buffalo by the Curtis Co. John is associated with the Curtis Co. and is a graduate of the Aero Industrial Textile Institute. Alan Guild, another son, is also a graduate of the Institute and is still in Santiago, California, with the Consolidated company.

The Townsman's operation Morale Christmas list is growing. We add this week mailing information for five Andover servicemen who are serving with U.S. forces in Vietnam and reprint those previously submitted to give readers complete listing.

The Andover Board of Selectmen has issued an invitation to officials of eleven Merrimack Valley communities to meet with them here Dec. 2 to discuss this region's eligibility for Federal grants under the Economic Development Act of 1965.

The communities asked are with Andover, part of a territory classified as economically depressed and qualified to apply for a share of the total $3.25 billion appropriation.

The Andover Chamber of Commerce has already registered its dissatisfaction with planning board proposals for zoning changes which would force new and expanding businesses to meet certain parking space minimums.

A delegation from the chamber's board of directors made it clear that the merchants find little more that suits them in the recently modified plans than they found to their taste in amendments offered at a Town Meeting in June, 1964.

The Andover School committee tentatively adopted a 1966 pay scale setting the bachelor's minimum at the $5,400 requested by the Teachers' Assn. and the maximum in this track at $8,500, exactly $200 less than the professionals wanted.

10 years ago Nov. 1980

The first snow storm of the season and the earliest in many years brought troubles to the town's snow-fighting crews and the power company, Tuesday.

There were some accidents of a minor, fender-bender nature, but no injuries.

Schools were closed for the day. Basic problems beating the elements was the storm's arrival in mid-November when least expected, thus little time for preparation on the part of private contractors who assist the town in snow plowing operations. Also contributing to the problem was the fact that the snow fall did not actually get heavy enough to produce plowable accumulation until almost 5 a.m.

Public works director Robert E. McQuade reports that his crews were out after midnight sanding and salting, switching to plowing about 4:30 a.m. The crews worked through the day until about 6 p.m., then returned to action at midnight to combat ice conditions with salt and sand during the early Wednesday morning hours.

Commuters who headed for Route 93 at the Route 125 ramp ran into problems when they got to Wilmington where abandoned cars and lack of adequate plowing caused a massive tie up. One Andover resident heading to work in Boston left his house at 7:30 a.m. and finally gave up and returned home at 10 a.m.

Power outages in various section of town were caused primarily by the heavy snow downing lines. Long lines were the order of the day both Tuesday and Wednesday as motorists hurried to prepare for the next storm- which at this time of portends a long winter.

The girls band is 50 years old!

all-girls band.

"Miss Sweeney wanted a band so desperately," said Ruth (Cashman) McSurdy, Punchard class of 1942, who played the baritone horn. She said the hardest part of playing the horn was keeping it polished to the satisfaction of Miss Sweeney.

"The problem she had for many years was that the best band players were also the best football players. Every season she'd loose (potential) musicians to the football coach," said Mrs. McSurdy, 103 Chestnut St.

Sixty-four girls signed on with the band during the fall of 1939, almost the total population of girls attending Punchard at the time. None of girls knew how to play a band instrument when they began. Two music teachers from Lowell and one from Lawrence came to Punchard once a week to teach music, which cost the girls 25 cents per lesson.

Marching and drilling the complicated formations were equally as important to learn, said Barbara (Parker Hall), Punchard class of 1941. Mrs. Hall was one of eight majorettes during the first half of the season. She was made head majorette during the second half of the 1940 season.

"She marched us up and down and around the football field for hours, plus before the games on Saturdays. Everything had to be perfect," said Mrs. Hall, 43 Chester St.

Learning how to play the instruments, master the drills and twirl batons weren't the only obstacles the girls had to overcome during their first few years. They also had to raise money to buy their instruments, batons and fabric for their uniforms. They raised $250 through a fashion show held at Memorial Auditorium that still stands today as part of the Doherty Middle School on Bartlet Street. They also raised $25 in donations from the school's parents association and $90 more from a penny drive help. They still didn't have all the money they needed to purchase the $1,213 worth of instruments and drums needed.

The band didn't even have enough money to buy boots, said Isabelle Dobbie, Punchard class of 1941. The girls wore brown saddle shoes that had to be shined perfectly.

"There was no money in the beginning for the band.

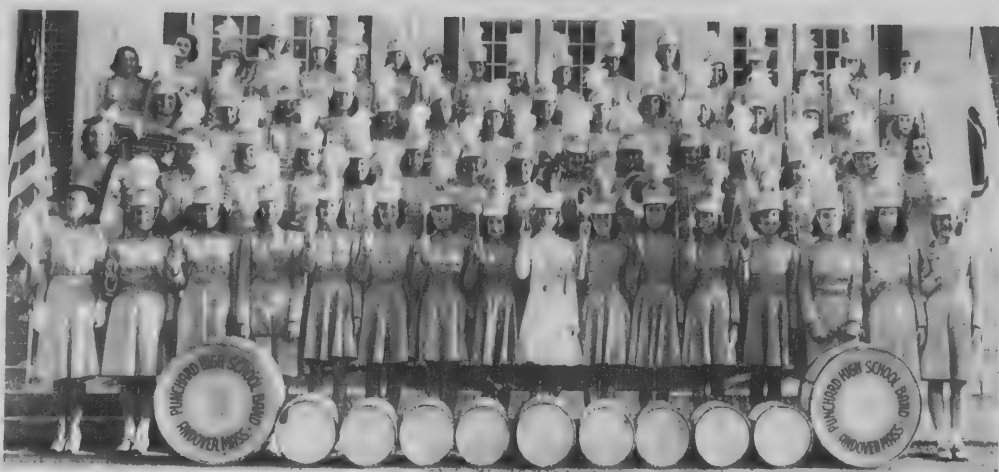

We had to raise it all ourselves," said Miss Dobbie. "Ninety dollars in those days was a month's pay for some people," she said.

Miss Dobbie played the trombone for two years in the band.

"We were pretty good for girls who had just learned to play and march a year before," said

Miss Dobbie.

Some of the larger, more expensive instruments, such as the tuba, bass drums and glockenspiel were purchased with the money raised and they became the property of the school. Girls who played the smaller instruments such as trumpets, clarinets and saxophones, bought their own instruments.

The girls and their mothers sewed the uniforms in order to save money, said Mrs. Hall.

"Some of the mothers were so proud they'd come to the games just to see their daughters even if they didn't like football," she said.

The uniforms were styled after the uniforms worn by the cadets at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. The colors were sky blue, Miss Sweeney's favorite color, according to former members, with gold buttons and gold braid trim around the buttons and sleeves.

The jackets had a stand-up military collar with gold braid trim and the matching flared skirts were knee length. Each girl wore a West-Point styled white leather shako hat with a gold eagle on the front and topped with either a white plume for the instrument players, a gold plume for the majorettes and blue plume for the single drum major.

Miss Sweeney had a dress for herself made out of the same material so she matched her band.

The second to last Saturday in November of 1940, the band made its debut performance. The Townsman issue of that week reported the performance as inspiring. The band played at the Punchard-Amesbury football game.

"The entire crowd in the bleachers arose to cheer the girls as they made their first appearance on the field before the game and again at half time when they maneuvered, forming an 'A' for Amesbury and a 'P' for Punchard," the newspaper said.

"We just loved playing and marching. Being in the band was so much fun," said Evelyn (Porter) St. Jean, Punchard class of 1942.

Mrs. St. Jean, 143 Chestnut St., played a trumpet that belonged to her brother, Alton, who was a member of the football team. Her daughter, Linda

All girls Punchard High band is 50

Here's HOPE for parents

(St. Jean) Halani, Andover High class of 1973, played the very same trumpet in the band 30 years later.

Playing in the band may have been fun, but it wasn't always comfortable, especially when the temperatures dipped near freezing.

"It could get really cold up in those stands. All we had was our uniforms. We didn't have coats or capes," said Mrs. Hall.

"Of course it was before pantyhose and those little white ankle socks didn't keep our legs warm," she said.

Coach Collins never played in a winning turkey-day game

By Rick Harrison

Andover High football Coach Dick Collins has had his share of success on the sidelines in 31 previous Thanksgiving Day games.

But the Rhode Island native, a state sprint champion and star 5'9", 155-pound running back at East Providence High, couldn't say the same during his playing days.

"I never played on a team that won a Thanksgiving Day game," said Collins. "We lost three straight to LaSalle when I was in high school.

"My senior year I was in bed with pneumonia for 3-1/2 weeks prior to the game. I never should have played, but being a stubborn and immature kid, I climbed out of the sick bed.

"My parents weren't too happy about the decision, but they didn't stop me. I don't remember the final score, but I played and we lost pretty good.

"It was a very disappointing end to my high school career, getting sick and then losing the game."

Collins played one final Turkey Day game after graduation.

"In 1954 I played for the 12th Marines against a team of paratroopers on Kyushu Island," recalled the AHS skipper. "I had a lot of fun when I played in the service, but we ended up losing that one, too."

Miss Dobbie and her friends found an ingenious way to keep warm.

"We'd cut up brown paper bags and sew them to the inside of our jackets. They didn't show and they only crinkled up a little. The bags kept us warm," she said.

The band continues to grow in the following years. By 1950 the all-girls marching band had grown to 100 members.

Mrs. (Sweeney) McArdle has since died, but Mrs. St. Jean and two former band members, Connie (Swenson) Schmidt, who now lives in New Hampshire, and Kathleen (Valentine)

Taucher, who now lives in Wisconsin, visited their band leader in her Shawsheen home shortly before she died almost 10 years ago.

"She was so happy to see us. We sat and reminisced about old times. We even took out some of the old photographs of the first band," she said.

Joan Buschmann, 44 Dascomb Road, the current president of the marching band parents group, is compiling information on the history of the high school band in Andover. If any former members wish to share information with her they are encouraged to get in touch with Mrs. Buschmann by mail.

For parents who lost a child through miscarriage, still birth or within a few weeks of the birth, there is HOPE (Help Other Parents Endure), a peer-support group.

HOPE is offered by Winchester Hospital to help parents recover from their loss. HOPE meets Wednesdays, at 7:30 p.m. and the second Wednesday of every month thereafter.

For further information, call Winchester Hospital's social service department.

Van Buskirk is in Japan with Marines

Marine Gunnery Sgt. Brian A. Van Buskirk, whose wife, Donna, is the daughter of Roger and Linda Lafitt of 17 Boutwell Road, recently departed on deployment to Okinawa, Japan, as part of the Unit Deployment Program, while serving with 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the six-month deployment, he will participate in training exercises, including jungle warfare and cold weather training.

A 1975 graduate of North Andover High School, Sgt. Van Buskirk joined the Marine Corps in November 1975.

The deadline for news is Monday at 5 p.m.

Merrimack Valley Educational Supply

As the holiday season begins and we try to budget our money wisely, we would prefer to spend on quality educational items rather than junk for the youngsters on our list. Everything to entertain, educate and stimulate the imagination of children may be found at Merrimack Valley Educational Supply. Owner Sandra L. Charland believes "Children are our future... Teach them well." This has inspired the former teacher to search out the best supplies available for children from infancy through 12th grade to be carried in this spacious, well displayed store.

The "tried-and-true" basics, as well as the unusual and difficult-to-find materials, may be purchased at affordable prices. There are many creative gift ideas at Merrimack Valley Educational Supply. They carry games, flash cards, software, robots to build, children's music, science projects, puzzles, blocks, art supplies, craft materials, books, videos, Beatrix Potter collectables and stuffed animals.

Merrimack Valley Educational Supply has introduced a new line: "Clothes That Teach," by Young Explorer. Coordinated clothes, including sweaters, hats, scarves, bows, skirts and pants for both boys and girls (ages 2 to 7) are designed in six different butterfly themes. An attached tag explaining the particular type of butterfly and complementary activity book accompanies each article of clothing.

Sandy Charland is available for advice and encourages the public to come in and browse. The store has something different and appropriate for all age groups.

Merrimack Valley Educational Supply is located on the Andover-Lawrence border at 670A South Union Street (next to the Swimming Pool Center). Holiday hours are Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 6 p.m. Telephone: (508) 681-8661

Concerned Friends offers support

Samaritan volunteers answer their phones nearly 100 times every day at the center in Lawrence. Often the caller is a person who is worried about a depressed family member or friend.

In response to the increasing number of these third-party calls, the Samaritans of Merrimack Valley offer a support group. Concerned Friends, a place to share feelings of frustration and helplessness and experiences that may help others cope with their daily relationships.

One of the group's leaders is Andover resident Judy Astbury. Concerned Friends meets on the first Monday of each month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 57 Peters St., North Andover. Meetings are open to people of all ages who are concerned about friends or family members. There is no attendance requirement and no fee. Samaritans are not affiliated with any religious group.

Ms. Astbury will be joined by Anne DeCesare of Atkinson, N.H., in leading the group. Both are Samaritan-trained facilitators.

For more information, call 688-9030.

Essex Division
Docket No. 90P2686-E1
Estate of Joseph W. Gemmell, Junior, otherwise known as Joseph William Gemmell, Junior late of Andover in the County of Essex

NOTICE
A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that a certain instrument be probated purporting to be the last will of said deceased by Anne Regis Gemmell, of

Andover in the County of Essex praying that she be appointed executrix thereof, without giving a surety on her bond

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on December 17, 1990

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 16

Essex Division
Docket No. 84P2730-G11
NOTICE OF FIDUCIARY'S ACCOUNT

To all persons interested in the estate of Grace P. Agard of Andover, in said county, a mentally ill person

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the first and final account of Frances L. Herron as Guardian (the fiduciary) of the property of said Grace P. Agard has been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account, you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before the tenth day of December, 1990, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by register, certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said account. If you desire to object to any item of said account, you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 5

Everything for the Car

President Jim Chinigo

Quick Lube

Owner Jim Chinigo is pleased to report that Quick Lube's customer base has increased by 20 percent. This growth is attributable to customers' testimonials to the quality of service and convenience delivered by Quick Lube.

With the unpredictability of winter weather and driving conditions upon us, it is important to maintain cars in the best possible condition to insure safe and reliable driving. Quick Lube offers a fast, efficient and comprehensive system of automotive maintenance. This service will improve the car's reliability, decrease repairs and increase the resale value.

Seventeen primary services are performed on the vehicle. These include routine fluid replacement, using quality Pennzoil products. The oil and filter are changed, chassis lubricated, battery checked and filled, tires inflated properly, oil changed to appropriate weight for cold weather and the level of antifreeze is checked to make sure its ready for "Old Man Winter." This is accompanied by a guarantee that if the customer is not satisfied with the service, Quick Lube will remedy the problem or refund the money.

Quick Lube also offers a "top-off" policy: at any time within the first 90 days or 3,000 miles, they will "top-off," free of charge, any of the fluids in the vehicle to ensure that the car is maintained in optimum condition.

Quick Lube is located at 216 Main Street (Route 28), North Reading, Wednesday is Senior Citizens' day, offering a 10 percent discount. Hours are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Telephone: (508) 664-4901.

Docket No. 90P2576-E1
Estate of Priscilla R. Laycock, otherwise known as Priscilla Ray Laycock late of Andover in the County of Essex.

NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that a certain instrument be probated purporting to be the last will of said deceased by Thomas J. Lane of Lawrence in the County of Essex praying that he be appointed executor thereof, without giving a surety on his bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on December 10, 1990.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 16.

Witness, Thaddeus Buczek, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Salem, the eighth day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ninety.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING

A Design Public Hearing will be held by the Massachusetts Department of Public Works to discuss the proposed replacement of the Harding Street bridge over MBTA.

WHERE: Town Hall, 3rd Floor Conference Room 36 Bartlett Street Andover, MA.

WHEN: Wednesday, November 28, 1990 @ 7:00 P.M.

PURPOSE: The purpose of the hearing is to comply with Chapter 159, Section 59 and Chapter 160, Section 104 of the General Laws regarding the alteration of railroad crossings. It is also being held to provide the public with the opportunity of becoming fully acquainted with the proposed bridge and related improvements. All views and comments made at the hearing will be reviewed and considered to the maximum extent possible.

PROPOSAL: The proposed project consists of replacing the existing Harding Street bridge, over MBTA, in its present location with improvements to the approach roadways.

Written views received by the Department subsequent to the date of this notice and up to five (5) days prior to the date of the hearing shall be displayed for public inspection and copying at the time and date listed above.

Written statements and other exhibits in place of, or in addition to, oral statements at the public hearing regarding the proposed undertaking are to be submitted to George R. Turner, Jr., Chief Engineer, Massachusetts Department of Public Works, 10 Park Plaza, Boston, MA 02116. Such submissions will also be accepted at the hearing. The final date of receipt of these statements and exhibits will be ten (10) days after this public hearing.

Plans will be on display for one hour before the hearing, with an engineer in attendance to answer questions in regard to this project.

GET THE FACTS FROM RE/MAX!

Fact is, these Top Producers at RE/MAX are among North America's leading real estate professionals.

Sue Papalia

Sue has sold hundreds of homes & millions of dollars of residential real estate in Andover and North Andover over the past 13 years. She has been Publicity Committee Chairperson for the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors for 5 years. Since joining RE/MAX in 1988, she was honored as Broker of the Year for RE/MAX preferred, inc. in 1988 & 1989, closing over 65 transactions. In addition, she was recognized in 1989 by RE/MAX of New England as #3 sales associate in the Region for total closed dollar volume.

Norma Hyder

For 11 years, customers and clients have relied on Norma for their real estate needs. Consistently, Norma is called on to service relocation referrals for RE/MAX brokers and others to assure their customers get the best service available in the Andovers. Norma joined the Andover RE/MAX team in 1988, and received the Executive Club Award in 1989. Despite 1990 market and economic conditions, Norma has surpassed all previous sales records and reached the 100% Club, the most prestigious honor RE/MAX offers, placing her in the top 1% of the country.

What better time than this, Thanksgiving, to take a moment to thank you for the business we've done together. We're more than pleased that you continue to recommend us so highly. So much of our business over the past 41 years is a direct result of those recommendations. There is no better complement to the level of professionalism that we work so hard to provide than a personal referral from a satisfied client or customer.

Here's what you've been saying:

Infinite Patience & Knowledge ...

It is difficult as a homebuyer to find a Realtor that has the kind of Qualities she has.

I AM A DIFFICULT CUSTOMER & SHE CERTAINLY WAS THE MOST DETERMINED SALESPERSON WITHOUT BEING ANNOYING.

A MOST PROFESSIONAL, KNOWLEDGEABLE AND PATIENT AGENT... SHE CONTINUALLY MAINTAINED CONTACT WITH US AND WAS MOST HELPFUL IN FACILITATING THE CLOSING.

...did an exceptional job selling our house - even to 'beyond the call of duty'...

...it made the house hunt a delight instead of a chore.

... outstanding in his work in selling, his judgment, confidence and generosity of attention to matters I could not attend to in my absence & will always appreciate hand throughout and anyone she helps find and buy a house is very lucky.

...was the most efficient and effective real estate agent I've worked with.

Everyone was great! First class operation!

A TERRIFIC AGENT. She LISTENS TO THE WANTS & NEEDS OF

She is fantastic!

They made our family's relocation a smooth and happy one. Three stars!

VICTOR
THE VICTOR COMPANY INC. REALTORS

Local man named to Weld spot

credited by political analysts as the mastermind of the governor-elect's successful bid for that office.

He was associate deputy administrator for management and administration for the U.S. Small Business Administration in Washington, D.C., from 1987 to 1989.

He also served as regional administrator of New England for the SBA from 1986 to 1987.

He lives here with his wife, Jane, 36, and their four daughters, Joan, 7, Elizabeth, 5, Katherine, 3, and Mary, 1.

Townsmen to hold holiday contest

Visit the downtown shops and see their holiday displays, both windows and in the store. Then write down your decision on the coupon on page 24 of today's paper, and mail it to the Townsman, or bring it in. Entries must be received by Dec. 12.

First, second and third-place plaques will be awarded to the top three choices.

In addition, in order to thank those who cast votes, several voters will win prizes donated by the merchants, in a Dec. 13 drawing.

Selectmen reverses on Marland Mills

Attorney Gerald Cohen, representing the developers, explained to selectmen that the project would be subject to a complete site plan review and required a special permit from the planning board before a single penny would be given up by the state.

"Nothing will happen without local approval from the Planning Board," Mr. Cohen said.

Susan Stott, chairman of the Planning Board, agreed.

"Frankly, the Planning Board shares the concerns you've expressed tonight," Ms. Stott told selectmen.

Selectmen and at least one resident at the meeting were concerned that input from selectmen and the public remain an integral part of the planning process. Chairman James Barenboim said selectmen will keep an eye on the proceedings.

"We will work very hard to interject letters the other way if need be," Mr. Barenboim warned the developers.

Cronin on Weld team, too

Leo J. Cronin, of 69 High St., was appointed Monday to a 40-member personnel committee to coordinate Governor-elect William Weld's transition into office.

"My function will be to help recruit and interview the best and the brightest for the Weld/Cellucci administration," Mr. Cronin said Tuesday.

Mr. Cronin, 47, owner of Leo's Pub on Essex Street in Lawrence, served as Merrimack Valley Coordinator for the Weld/Cellucci campaign.

"I have a personal commitment to government and downsizing government," Mr. Cronin said.

Mr. Cronin said he expects to do "whatever it takes" to do the job, for which he will not be paid.

Mr. Cronin would not speculate on how many jobs needed to be filled.

"In downsizing government we're going to find out how many there really are," he said.

Santa Parade is Sunday

loves a parade. You've got to get into the holiday spirit because it only comes once a year."

Lt. Potvin said Mr. Garabedian has been an enthusiastic supporter of the fire department and it meant a lot to him to become an honorary member of the force.

"He used to ride his bicycle down to west station every day," Lt. Potvin said.

Here's the parade route

The parade starts behind the Doherty Middle School at the corner of Whittier and Chestnut streets at 1:30. It will travel up Whittier to Elm Street, back on Elm to Main Street, then up Main and left onto Punchard Avenue and back to Doherty School.

In the case of rain or snow, the parade will be pushed ahead one week.

The other two co-chairmen with Lt.

Hixon to retire at year's end

principals will retire next year.

Mr. Hixon, the principal of AHS for the past four years and assistant principal there for 14 years before that, will retire in June. He leaves after 32 years of employment with the Andover school system, starting in 1959 as a history teacher.

William Hart, principal of West Middle School, has submitted a retirement proposal to the School Committee, which has yet to approve it.

"It's not official," Mr. Hart said.

Mr. Hart began teaching math and science in Andover at the junior-high level 35 years ago. He became the principal of the town's only junior high school in 1961. In 1969 when the town split the school into two, West and Doherty junior high schools, he remained at the head of West.

Iora Alexander, principal of Bancroft Elementary School, is the other school administrator considering retirement. Ms. Alexander began teaching in Andover in 1969. She could not be reached for comment.

She made recycling happen here resented Andover at many regional meetings on the subject; she has argued always for innovative ways to cure our waste problems. Margaret Pustell is always looking toward the future, way ahead of the rest of us and I'm not even sure she pauses to be gratified when one of her ideas actually comes true.

If you sometimes wonder why other towns aren't as far along in recycling,
